Budget of Union Calls for $35,000 for Entire Fall Elections

By Associated Press

Chicago — Through L. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, counsel for the Republican national committee sought to show Thursday before the Chicago section of the senate campaign fund investigation committee, that the La Follette campaign was subsidized by the railroad "brotherhoods."

Sheppard objected to being questioned regarding letters had written to members of his order including one to "Fred Stewart of Oakland, Calif., saying that he wanted protection from the gang in to matters that might cause controversy within his organization."

Kirkland insisted on having the correspondence, saying he thought the committee should be interested in getting at the facts and that he thought it would be interested. He added that he wanted to show that the railway labor organizations were interested in future legislation as to government ownership of the railroads and "law affecting the use of the injunction in labor disputes."

Samuel Untermyer, New York lawyer and a supporter of John W. Davis, objected and he and Kirkland had several sharp tiffs with a result that Chairman Borah said the committee might have to conduct the inquiry exclusively and independent of counsel. Senator Borah took over the examination.

ACTIVE IN POLITICS

Sheppard said his organization had been active in politics for some time supporting candidates for congress and state offices. He cited that it had been behind a Republican candidate for senator in Nebraska and a Democratic candidate for governor in that state.

In the present campaign, the Order of Conductors has fielded workers out. They have reported a total of $818 and in addition $302 has been contributed by local labor organizations.

Senator Borah pressed for the approximate total contribution of the 17 organizations to the national campaign.

Bomb Aimed At Chief Of Sect Kills 8

By Associated Press

Nelson, B. C.—Peter Veragin, leader of the Doukhobor colony in Saskatchewan province, paid for his progressive methods with his life Wednesday, when an enemy opposed to Veragin's use of modern appliances on farms and homes in the colony, placed a bomb under his seat in a Canadian Pacific passenger coach while the train was speeding from Nelson to Grand Fork, B. C., according to the theory advanced Thursday by police investigators. The explosion killed eight and injured twelve passengers on the train.

Veragin came to Canada from exile in Siberia in 1905 to lead the Doukhobor colony in Saskatchewan. Hundreds of telegrams of condolence over the death of Leader Veragin were received at the Brilliant, B. C. headquarters of the Doukhobors.

BADGER BIRTHS SHOW INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

Decline in Infant Mortality Credited to Attendance of Physicians

Madison—Increase in the number of births reported to the state board of health during 1923 is shown in statistics announced Thursday by the board. Total births reported, 59,401, represented an increase of 766 over 1922. Stillbirths numbered 1,478 and illegitimate births 918, both decreases over the previous year.

Steadily declining infant mortality is attributed by the board largely to attendance by physicians. Birth certificates show that 54,345 of those reported were attended by physicians. The reports show the birth of 625 twins, just one less than in 1922. The number of twins is smallest for many years. Likewise the number of triplets was the smallest in that period, with only two sets reported. Clark and Columbia cos furnished the triplets in 1923.

In total number of births in Milwaukee ranked first with 13,022. Next followed Dane, 1,968; Racine, 1,797; Marathon, 1,651; Brown, 1,561; Winnebago, 1,426; Rock, 1,358; Sheboygan, 1,357; Fond du Lac, 1,339. Male births outnumbered female, the figures showing, male 30,452; female, 28,949.

Noted Inventor Dead After Long Illness

Bruno V. Nordberg, President of Nordberg Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee, Succumbs

By Associated Press

Milwaukee — Bruno V. Nordberg, 67, founder and president of the Nordberg Manufacturing Co., died at his home here Thursday after an illness of two years. Mr. Nordberg enjoyed high rank as an inventive genius, several of his devices for increasing the efficiency of steam engines and other power producers having attracted world wide attention.

Among his outstanding achievements was the devising of installation of huge power units for the Montana mines of the Anaconda Copper Co. and for the Michigan mines of the Champion Mining Co. These units are among the largest of their kind in the world.

Mr. Nordberg was born in Finland in 1857 and was educated at the University of Helsinki. As a youth his ambition was to go to sea but his father, who was a sea captain, induced him to follow mechanics instead. He came to America in 1880, coming direct to Milwaukee, where he has since lived.

He entered the employ of the E. P. Allis Co. as a trucker, and soon rose to the position of designer of special power machinery. In 1898 he organized the Nordberg Co.

Fail To Find Antidote For Fatal Poison

By Associated Press

New York — A fifth victim of the mysterious gas poisoning in the research laboratory of the standard Oil Co., of New Jersey at Bayway, N. J., died in a hospital here Thursday. Herbert Fuston, 29 years old, of Elizabeth, was the latest victim. Before his death he had to be placed in a straight jacket.

The last three victims have died at approximately the same hour in three successive mornings, all of them becoming more violent before death.

Eleven additional men suffering from the strange poisoning were brought to the hospital Wednesday night bringing a total of men affected to date to 33.

Wednesday night doctors at the hospital announced that they had discovered an antidote by which they hoped to save Fuston's life but he died in the same violent manner as the others.

MORRIS REFUSES TO TESTIFY IN SLUSH FUND CASE

Senator Caraway Announces New York State Chairman's Refusal to Appear

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C. — While the Washington end of the senate campaign fund committee was inquiring Thursday, acting chairman Caraway announced he had received a telegram from George K. Morris, the Republican state chairman in New York, refusing to appear before the committee "except on certain stipulations."

"I wish to state that the committee is not making any stipulations or understanding with any witnesses," said Senator Caraway. "He can refuse to come if he wishes to take the consequences of refusal. I assume there is something he does not care to expose."

The senator explained further that the sergeant at arms of the senate had received a telegram Wednesday from Mr. Morris saying if he had to come he thought "the representatives of the Democratic and Independent candidates ought to come also."

NEW ENGLAND WILL GIVE CAL BIG MAJORITY

Entire Electoral Vote Will Be Republican, Is David Lawrence's Forecast

WILL SUPPORT NATIVE SON

Contest so One Sided That Little Interest Is Being Shown in Campaign

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.

Boston, Mass. — New England as a whole will give Calvin Coolidge a remarkable majority. The entire electoral vote will be Republican and the popular totals may even exceed those which were given Harding in 1920.

Little interest is being taken in the national campaign—so one sided is the contest. Hardly any newspapers are fighting Coolidge. Most of them are supporting him. The nearest approach to a fight is in the senatorial and congressional campaigns in Massachusetts, for instance, Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, who is seeking reelection, is being outgunned by the Coolidge tide. Speaker Gillette, who has the whole-hearted backing of President Coolidge, will in all probability be carried along on the Coolidge strength so that the Democrats will lose a seat they have held in the United States Senate.

Not a single effort is being made for Gillette in the state, a circumstance which in the last few days has been gun to alarm not a few Republicans who think in their over-confidence they may be treated to a surprise.

DEMOCRATS HAVE CHOICE

New England's industries, particularly textiles, have not been getting along any too well and it would have been natural to expect a large protest vote. Unemployment is by no means negligible and while President Coolidge may not suffer from the protest vote because he has such an overwhelming lead, there are so many congressional districts in New England where the Democrats have better than an even chance to increase the number of seats they have in the House of Representatives. The La Follette vote which will diminish the Democratic strength on the presidential ticket, probably will be cast for some Democrats in New England.

Republican candidates for congress so that at least a number of districts are in the doubtful column. For instance, in speaker Gillette's own district, there is a chance of a Democrat winning out although all 114 Republican nominees are counting heavily on the Coolidge landslide to pull them through. The whole fight in New England, the matter of the issues, the record, is all wrapped up in the personality of one man—Calvin Coolidge—whose first year in office has enhanced his prestige with his own people.

England Shows Marked Favor For Old Party

People of Britain Deal Crushing Defeat to First Regime of Workers

LIBERAL PARTY WEAKEST

Victorious Faction Has Largest Majority Known During Last Century

By Associated Press

London—The people of Great Britain have put a crushing end to their first experiment with a Labor government by returning the Conservative party to power in parliament with one of the strongest majorities recorded during the last century.

In this sweeping political change the Liberal party as sunk to the weakest position it has experienced since the realignment of British political parties more than 80 years ago at the time of the reform bill. With 545 out of the 515 seats in the house of commons accounted for at 4 o'clock Thursday morning, the Liberals had won only 37 and the Conservatives had already captured 359 and were increasing their lead constantly as the returns came in from the country districts. Labor had won 137 seats and was thus assured of being the official opposition party in the new parliament.

The decline of the Liberals thus far is believed in some quarters to foreshadow ultimate verification of the "rainy" recent predictions that this "action" would sound their death knell as a distinct party. The retirement of their defeated leader, former Premier Asquith, if it materialized, would be likely to further their disintegration. It is believed, driving their left wing into the Laborite ranks.

Some observers see in Wednesday's polling returns a strong indication of preference for the two-party system which stood the test of centuries in this country.

WOMEN FARE BADLY

Women fared rather badly in the constituency results for making their declarations. Lady Astor added another victory to her laurels as candidate for the Sutton division of Plymouth, but at a late hour the only woman elected to keep her company was Miss Wilkinson, Laborite, from Middlesex, east.

In addition to Miss Margaret Bondfield, member for Northampton in the last parliament and also a member of the MacDonald government, the feminine group in the house suffered the loss of Miss Susan Lawrence, Laborite, who was defeated in Eastham north by the male Conservative candidate.

An interesting feature of the elections was the return to parliament of Sir Horace Greenwood, who won a three cornered fight in east Walthamstow, with a plurality of 3,066 over his Laborite runner up Sir Hamr, who was defeated in 1922 and 1923 by a Unionist, entered the present campaign as an anti Socialist and Constitutional and was not opposed by a Conservative.

The severest blow for the Liberals was the defeat of Mr. Asquith whose loss to the Laborite, Mitchell, in Paisley broke the Liberal record of 92 years in that constituency.

The Liberal leader took his defeat smilingly but admitted profound disappointment and said he regretted severance of his connection with Paisley for the time being, at any rate.

Aside from all party considerations his loss is generally deplored as the disappearance, temporarily at least, of one of the country's most distinguished statesmen.

AWAIT SIGNATURES OF TONG LEADERS TO ESTABLISH PACT

New York — An armistice has been declared in the long war and it is expected that a nation wide peace will be formally declared in Chinatown Thursday. At a meeting of representatives of the On Leong and Hip Sing tong here Wednesday night, at which the Chinese consul general acted as mediator a treaty was approved. All that remains to bring an end to the hostilities which have raged in at least seven great cities of the country and has caused scores of casualties are the signatures of the leaders of the rival tongs.

It was learned for the first time Wednesday night that the latest outbreak of the tong war was the result of a business rivalry between tongs of 25 years' standing. Police learned from members of the tongs that the treaty of peace to be signed Thursday determines the mercantile rights of each side.

MELLON VIOLATED PUBLICITY RULE, LAFOLLETTE SAYS

Treasury Secretary Published Income Statement of Senator Couzens

By Associated Press

Albany, N. Y. — Famed for a 34-hour invasion of Massachusetts, President Coolidge's home state, Senator LaFollette left here Thursday for Boston where he speaks Thursday.

The Independent Presidential candidate stopped here on his way from Schenectady where in an address Wednesday night he advocated government ownership of water power, and declared that when "we purge our life of monopoly through public ownership we purge our government of corruption as well."

After his trip to New England he will turn westward to carry his fight for the presidency again into Pennsylvania. On Friday he will deliver a speech in Pittsburgh, home of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and then will go to Cleveland to wind up campaigning Saturday night. Commenting on publication of income tax returns, before leaving for Boston the Wisconsin senator declared that the attempt of the Republican administration to intimidate the newspapers of the country and to invade constitutional rights of freedom of the press through threats put out by the Republican attorney general, is only another instance of the lengths to which the Republicans will go in their service of their private monopoly system.

"Secretary Mellon," he said, "has shown no proper concern for the secrecy of income tax returns, and he made public the sources and amount of the personal income of Senator Couzens of Michigan, a thing specifically forbidden by the law except as authorized by the president. I would like to ask how did President Coolidge authorize the publication of Senator Couzens's income?"

MAY STOP HUNTING TO PREVENT FIRES

Drastic Measures May Be Necessary to Save Wisconsin Timber

A warning that hunting and fishing seasons in Wisconsin may be closed altogether if sportsmen are not more careful when handling fire in the woods was issued today by Elmer S. Hall, chief of the state conservation department, lending its full support to the efforts of the forest department to lessen the number of forest fires in this state, Mr. Hall announces.

"One mischievous hunter, in a moment of carelessness, can destroy a stand of timber that required fifty years in which to grow," states the conservation commissioner. "This sort of thing cannot be justified. There is one solution to the forest fire problem which we are saving as a last resort, an emergency measure which we may be forced to employ within a year or two. And that is to prohibit any hunting or fishing in the wooded sections of Wisconsin."

GOVERNMENT SET PRECEDENT

Hunters who imagine that the state has no power to attempt such drastic action are laboring under an illusion, according to Mr. Hall. "Wisconsin will have a precedent should hunting and fishing be prohibited in order to protect the forest," he writes. "Last year, the U. S. Forest department found it necessary to close the national forests to hunters and fishermen. I am not referring now to the national parks. But in the national forest ranges, even fishing is prohibited, and the result has been a 95 per cent decrease in the number of fires."

50 FIRES IN ONE DAY

That forest fires can be very frequent is traced to sportsmen by the conservation chief. "There were no fires in northern Wisconsin before the opening of the trout season on May 2 of last spring," he declares, "but on the opening day 50 fires were reported. Conservation wardens and foresters traced every one of these back to the shores of trout streams, where fishermen had either built cooking fires, or tossed a burning cigarette. The danger of cigarette stubs cannot be over-emphasized."

DADS CLUB DIES WHEN INTEREST DIES OUT

Because fathers of high school students lost interest in the Dads club of Appleton high school, the organization has ceased to function. The club was composed of fathers who had children in high school and was concerned chiefly with school work and educational matters. Meetings were held in the high school presided over by H. L. Post, president.

Because the organization was given no support and interest in it had cooled considerably, no attempt has been made to reorganize this year.

These Youngster's Won't Ever Eorget About Holland

6 GIRLS ENROLLED IN LAWRENCE BAND

A person must be a carpenter, architect and engineer to understand geography nowadays, seventh graders of the Fourth District school have discovered. They are working on a project in which they build a miniature Holland on the sand table in the schoolroom. It sounds easy to build, when you read the description of the country as it is pictured in the old style geography books, but imagine trying to show the meanderings of dikes, and the topography of a land no two parts of which are at the same level.

But the enthusiastic students settled down to their problem with amazing ingenuity and perseverance. First, the land had to be divided into sections, and water-proof portions divided off to hold the minute ocean, and canals which are the outstanding characteristics of the brave little country whose safety depends on her dikes, had to be built. The girls helped to mould clay to the right consistency to manufacture a reservoir for the water, and the boys pitched in to learn the way a dike works and is built.

Windmills of various sizes dot the landscape, and one is especially well proportioned and painted in true Dutch colors. Several children objected to this particular mill because they thought the size of the building wasn't in proportion to the rest of the land, but Miss Rogers, seventh grade teacher, pointed to a picture on the wall, in which the windmill far outtowered the church steeple.

Up to this time the boys have had the most to say about the work because girls never have been able to plan dikes and windmills. But people have to come on the scene in any country and the Hollanders are a particular type of Europeans demanding the right costume and finery, so the girls of the class got out their books on styles of dress and proceeded to make charming dolls, garbed in the kind of clothes the Dutch wear. Then since boys aren't quite artistic enough to make flowers, the girls made bright colored tulips to set in the grass which was planted early in the game.

The boys say that cheese making and other dairying is the chief occupation of the Hollanders, so the cereal boxes contain cheese wheels of red clay to represent the industry of the Dutch. Holstein cows also are an integral part of the life along the dikes. Little houses have been constructed, too, and the students promise that when they have completed their work, they will have a real Holland.

George Walker Is Speaker at Luncheon—Boy Scout Urges Club to Vote

George Walker, one of the proprietors of Appleton Engraving Co., spoke at the Rotary club luncheon at Conway hotel Tuesday noon concerning the engraving industry. Rotarians were invited to inspect the plant after the luncheon and see how photo engraving is made.

William Meyer, a boy scout, also gave a talk as a representative of local troops. He explained the get-out-the-vote campaign which the scouts are trying to bring about, asked each Rotarian to be sure to vote and distributed literature explaining this duty on the part of each citizen.

Earl P. Miller and Leo C. Rasey, who were made patrons of a sorority, recently, had to submit to powdering of their noses, and in fact their whole faces, by a beauty parlor employee who initiated them at the request of the club. Considerable mirth was caused when another member was picked out by mistake and bald head as well as his face was powdered.

Next week's luncheon will be held at Appleton Womens club.

AUTO IS DAMAGED WHEN IT HITS WAGON

The bumper and right front fender of a Nash sport model automobile driven by Oscar Raesler, route 1, were slightly damaged early Wednesday evening when he ran into a wagon driven by N. J. Fink on highway 18 a short distance west of the asylum. Mr. Fink who was hauling sugar beets was going west on the highway when his wagon was struck in the rear by Mr. Raesler, who was blinded temporarily by the bright lights of a car traveling east. No one was injured.

HALLOWEEN MISCHIEF IS GIVEN EARLY START

Halloween arrived too soon for the comfort of residents of the western end of Lawrence-st. Wednesday evening ghostly rappings on the sides and doors of houses brought startled inmates to their porches, but no one was to be found. Further investigation revealed kiddie cars and carts which had been left outside perched up in trees and a few plant boxes upset.

Fire Display Leads To Rumor Of Klan Session

An array of fires at the northern horizon Monday night gave the appearance of a political torchlight parade or a big meeting of the Ku Klux Klan north of Appleton. Closer investigation proved that although one of the fires was probably the work of Klan members, the remaining fires are burning stumps east of the Grand Chute cemetery.

The fiery cross was burned a short distance from the Roosevelt junior high school near Erb park. The stump fires were in the background, but to an observer some distance removed they looked like a chain of fires with the fiery cross as the center. The cross was a huge one set into the ground and secured by wires. The crosspieces were wrapped in oil soaked rags and burned a long time.

ABSENTEE VOTER MUST USE HASTE

County Clerk Asks Immediate Application for Proper Blanks

John P. Hantschel, county clerk, is receiving applications for absent voter ballots from persons who will be out of the city on election day Tuesday. Those who desire to vote by mail should apply at once and return the ballot before Monday in order that the county clerk may have an opportunity of forwarding the ballots to the respective precincts.

Application should be made direct to the county clerk who will provide the regular form to be used for this purpose. The application should be made not less than three days before election and should be sworn to before a person authorized to administer oaths. In case the person will be unable to go to the polls on account of sickness, a certificate of a physician certifying the sickness or disability must accompany the application.

Upon receipt of this application, the county clerk will mail the applicant an absent voter's ballot which is to be returned in an official envelope provided by the clerk. On the back of the envelope appears an affidavit which must be filled out by the voter and sworn to before a notary public. The ballots shall be marked and folded in the presence of the person administering the oath and enclosed in the envelope. They are to be mailed to the county clerk, who in turn will deliver them either to the local clerks or to the election boards of the precinct where the elector would otherwise have voted.

OUR OWN TEAPOT DOME
Organizers and officials of the Union Food Stores company are on trial in the federal court at Milwaukee on charges of criminal fraud. The case is of particular interest to the people of Wisconsin. Already about a dozen of the defendants have pled guilty and turned state's evidence, which is in itself practically conclusive evidence of the extent and seriousness of the charges made by the federal government. The evidence shows that in about six months of the year 1922, approximately $130,000 of the stock of this company was sold under high pressure salesmanship methods familiar to but seldom catching the cautious investor.

Before this stock could be sold to residents of Wisconsin it was necessary to secure from the Securities Division at Madison a permit for that purpose. If the Securities Division knew the facts about this fraudulent company its first duty was to prevent the sale of any of its stock. The evidence in federal court has shown that an expert accountant hired by the company in June, 1922 warned it that it ought to stop selling its stock because the company was not solvent and was told by officers of the company that there was no need to worry because the Securities Division had been "fixed by a mutual friend." The evidence shows too that the company agreed to pay $4,000 for the express purpose of getting from the Securities Division a permit to sell the stock, he actually receiving $2,000 in cash and a $2,000 certificate of stock as security for the balance. Part of this stock found its way into the hands of an official of the Securities Division. The claim is that the stock was merely sent to him "to see if he could collect it."

This is the first time we have ever heard of the Securities Division turning itself into a collection agency. There is no disposition here to convict any person of an offense without a full and fair hearing, but the evidence produced at the Milwaukee trial is of such a character and so apparently well founded as to cast a serious reflection upon the good faith of the Securities Division at Madison. Why should any honest company have to pay a "mutual friend" $4,000 to get a permit to sell its stock? Why should some of the stock be sent to an official of the Securities Division? How would the ordinary man either expect or dare to ask the Securities Division to collect the balance of the amount agreed to be paid him for his influence with the Securities Division? The excuse why some of the fraudulent stock was found in the hands of an official of the Securities Division seems quite unnatural.

At any rate, the Securities Division, formed under the law for the express purpose of protecting the people of Wisconsin from fraud, issued a permit whereby approximately $130,000 of the money of residents of Wisconsin, and because of the permit issued by the Securities Division, has found its way into the pockets of professional sharpers. To put the matter in an entirely kindly manner some explanation, and a clear and straightforward one, is due from the Securities Division. The evidence produced at Milwaukee has established very clearly that when the salesmen could not well effect a sale they used the argument with good effect that the Securities Division had issued a permit. Even some good people living in our neighboring city of Algoma were mulcted of substantial amounts of money.

Those who have been defrauded of their money have testified that when they knew a permit was issued by the Securities Division they assumed, as they had a right to assume, that the company was at least solvent. These people who have lost this $130,000 have been, for the most part, those who could not afford to lose it.

There is only one effective way to handle such a situation. There is only one effective way of getting at the truth. That is by a public investigation. The investigator should have authority to engage stenographers, subpoena witnesses, and get down to the bottom of this unsavory mess. But Governor Blaine has been opposed to any investigation which might reflect upon his political family. It is all very well for the governor to spend his time in the East preaching the gospel to the political heathens, meanwhile drawing a salary from the taxpayers of the state of Wisconsin for his time, but the protection of people from fraud should begin at home.

There is plenty within the borders of Wisconsin for a governor to do that remains undone. An investigation would separate the great mass of rumor, gossip and hearsay about conditions at Madison from the real truth and substance, which is the thing the public wants to know. If an official of the Securities Division has been improperly influenced or tampered with, the situation is no less foul than that revealed against Ex-Secretary Fall. But an investigation is a dangerous thing and is always feared by the professional politician. In the past the governor has seemed to fear very much that an investigation might pry off the lid and the people of the state might get a look at what has been going on beneath it. If the evidence produced at Milwaukee, and the reflections cast by it upon the Securities Division, constitute a fair sample of what might be expected upon an investigation of other departments of the state government, it would be a dangerous thing to start anything now right in the face of election.

This is not the first time that serious charges have been made against those in authority in the state government. But as soon as evidence is produced that requires explanation or investigation there is a strange quietude at Madison. There is a hush and then a complete silence. It is apparent that Governor Blaine is of the opinion that he holds Wisconsin so completely in the hollow of his hand that he need pay no attention when the people of the state, entitled to his protection, are defrauded out of $120,000 by a fake company, some of whose managers claim they paid out money for the purpose of fixing the Securities Division and where the evidence is undisputed that the money was certainly paid out.

COMPARISON.
There's never much gaining in constant complaining. We all find that out after awhile. It's only a habit for people to crab. It is better, by far, just to smile.
A fellow goes 'round with his head hangin' low and he thinks that the world's done him wrong. Yet, if he would cheer up, he surely would know it's more pleasant to travel alone.
Just stop and consider, are you a real bluffer for friends 'cause you're spreadin' good cheer? Nobody will score you and folks will be for you, if you can just smile, have no fear.
Of course you have troubles! Why, everyone does. But why tell the world about it? It's bothersome when people just constantly buzz. Your worry's your own, so why about it?
Compare little you with a bird in a cage. That ought to be near reasoning bring. You're free while the bird is caged up very tight, and yet he can constantly sing.

Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW THAT AIN'T SO?
In the weekly bulletin of the Chicago department of health, a publication which Chicago people must find exceedingly helpful, the commissioner, Herman N. Bundesen, M. D., recently made this suggestive observation in a message about preparing the children for school.
"If all parents were fully informed in health matters preliminary school inspection would not be necessary. For that matter we need no medical supervision of school children at all. Healthful school condition, good ventilation, proper lighting and heating, sanitary plumbing, physical training and the right sort of health instruction would then occupy our attention. But it is an established fact and not a theory that many parents do not possess the special knowledge necessary for hygienic supervision of children. If the warnings sent out at intervals by the health departments were more fully heeded by parents, namely to take the children to the family physician during vacation and see that they are made physically fit for school, there would be a great saving in disease among school children. The health department would much prefer that the family physician make the preliminary inspection and physical examination of the children before they enter school."

Then Dr. Bundesen tells how a staff of 250 physicians and nurses will be engaged for about two weeks in making the preliminary medical inspections, the primary purpose of which is to detect contagious diseases and by excluding pupils who present any suspicious signs preventing its spread to other children in the school. With the opening of the schools, the health commissioner remarks, there is a decided increase in the prevalence of both major and minor contagious diseases. (And from the context it is certain that by contagious diseases the commissioner means diphtheria, smallpox, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, chicken pox, German measles and many other infectious diseases, as well as scabies (the itch), pediculosis (infestation with lice), ringworm and other common contagious affections.)

I should like to second the health commissioner's motion three or four times, to wit:
First time, calling attention to the needless expense of the 250 doctors and nurses for two weeks—to do at public expense the work which should have been done by the family doctor at the expense of the individual so benefited. Would it not be better economy to teach in the schools a reasonable amount of physiology and hygiene, so that parents shall possess the valuable knowledge or information which would make all this preliminary school medical inspection unnecessary?

Second time, pointing out the great advance such spread of intelligence would bring about in our system of licensing healers, for there should necessarily be some uniformity instead of the haphazard practice of today—licensing this brand of healer to treat you by one pat method and that brand to treat you by some other usually narrow and inadequate method. But right here is probably the greatest obstacle in the way of teaching physiology and hygiene in the schools—the interest, bolstering on that point, ignorance are powerful and vigilant and they mean to keep things as they are.

Third time, suggesting that "if all parents were fully informed in health matters" the vaccination controversy would be ended and the stigma of "compulsory" vaccination laws or health board regulations removed.
And finally I second Commissioner Bundesen's motion because it is just so.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Cold Beverages and Hot Skin.

Is there any harm in drinking cold beverages when one is hot? I have the habit of taking a drink of cold water or a bottle of pop when I have finished some heavy work and feel perspiring. (W. M.)

Answer—Agreeably cold water is all right, if you do not drink too fast. But "pop" is an abomination to the stomach, and I should advise you to stick to cold water or lemonade or other real fruit juice drink. If water or other beverage is taken too cold (iced) or fast when one is overheated it is likely to disturb digestion and cause some shock. Water at 60 degrees F. is about right, agreeably cold but not ice cold.

World's News Told In Brief, Simple Style
BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Japan wins.
She's controlled northeastern China for quite a while, down about as far as the Great Wall. She didn't run it directly, however. She did it through Chang Tso-Lin, a Chinese, with headquarters at Mukden.
Deciding to extend her sphere of influence, Japan put Chang up to declaring war on President Tsao Kun of the Peking government.
Tsao bothered Chang by fighting harder than Chang expected.
So Chang made it worth while for Feng Yu-Hsiang, the "Christian general" in charge of Tsao's forces, to go over to Chang's side. The army, which practically was Feng's personal property, went with him. Tsao was chased out of the presidency.
Feng, representing Chang, representing Japan, is boss in Peking.
Thus ends the war in China—for the present.

ELECTION
If a candidate's popularity is in proportion to the size of his campaign fund, Coolidge must have it all over Davis and La Follette. His fund is bigger than both of theirs put together. This has been brought out by Senator Borah and his fellow investigating committeemen in the last few days before election. The Davis and La Follette's, however, say it doesn't necessarily prove Coolidge has more admirers—only that the ones he's got have more money.

TAXES
Despite the treasury's warning that anybody who tells anybody else how much a third person's income tax is, is apt to go to jail, most newspapers are going ahead and doing it anyway. The treasury's idea is that you're entitled to know how much everybody is taxed but must keep it a secret.

MODESTY?
The published lists show that many supposedly very rich people have been paying comparatively small taxes. One theory is that they're not as rich as the public thought they were. A second surmise is that, from modesty or some other motive, they minimized the figures they turned in to the internal revenue department.

OIL
The government's suit to knock out W. L. Doheny's oil lease—the one he arranged with Albert B. Fall, as secretary of the interior—is being tried in Los Angeles. It involves property estimated to be worth a quarter of a billion dollars. It's a civil case, but some of the evidence may prove useful later in connection with trials under some of the indictments growing out of the oil scandal—if there ever are any such trials.

SCRAPPY
England's national election, now going on, is much livelier than the one here. Fighting is almost as much a part of nearly every political meeting as speechmaking is in this instance. One candidate for Parliament was knocked cold with a piece of lead pipe the other day by a voter who didn't like his style of stump oratory.

NO HIGH SCHOOL DEFICIT
To Editor Post-Crescent:
Your frequent statements that the high school is borrowing money, without a due explanation as to the facts in the case are, I think, misleading to the people. Never in my recollection has the high school overrun its allowance and had a deficit at the end of the school year. The difficulty in the situation lies in the fact that the fiscal year for the school ends on June 30, and no money is available from the city taxes until the following January or February.

The balances on hand June 30, 1922, was $12,644.59, and on June 30, 1923, $14,844.14, which are fair samples of the amounts that have been on hand for some years, but neither of these amounts is enough to carry us through until tax time in January.

A number of years ago we began trying to add $5000 or more to the budget each year, so as to accumulate enough to bridge over the gap in tax time and prevent the necessity of borrowing for three months until tax time, but two or three years ago the budget was cut $10,000, which I feel was a mistake, as it put us back in that effort just so much, and when we had to come back to the usual request for $105,000 as our tax levy, it appeared that we had raised the tax levy, when in reality we were only asking for the usual amount.

If some arrangement could be made whereby we could receive our tax levy of $105,000 at the beginning of our fiscal year on July 1, the complaint that the high school had to borrow money could never be made.

Very truly yours,
Carrie E. Morgan,
Secretary of Board of Education.

Ralph Warrick, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Warrick, Akron, O., will complete his thirteenth year of unbroken Sunday school attendance in November.

Ralph was born in East Liverpool and Mrs. Warrick took her baby to Sunday school when he was 6 weeks old.

The Warricks later moved to Akron and Ralph started Sunday school when he was in his third year. His attendance record since then has been unbroken.

On occasions when young Warrick is out of the city over Sunday he attends Sunday school wherever he is and brings back an attendance certificate.

Warren is a sophomore at Akron West High School and is drummer in the high school band.

No Excuse If Ballot Is Spoiled

If there is anything about marking a ballot for the presidential election on Tuesday, which you do not understand, stop at the Whedon store building on the corner of Oneida-st and College-ave Friday afternoon, Saturday or Monday and have it demonstrated for you. A group of women from the civics department of Appleton Womens club will be in the store Friday afternoon, all day Saturday and Saturday evening, all day Monday and Monday evening. They will demonstrate for you. All you will have to do is look on.

In order that those people who did not vote in the primaries and who were not able to register on Tuesday, Oct. 22 may still have ample opportunity to use their franchise, the affidavit forms necessary to be sworn in on election day may be had in advance at the demonstration place, at the county courthouse or at Appletons Womens clubhouse. Few people who did not register by voting in the primaries realized that the polls were open for registration on Tuesday. They may vote by being sworn in at the polls and they may make out their affidavit in advance and take it with them to the polls.

This demonstration is not limited to women. It is considered an especially valuable opportunity for those who are voting in their first presidential election in order that their vote may be sure to count and not be made useless through an error.

QUILTS CENTURY OLD ARE FEATURE OF TRADE EXHIBIT

Curious and Unique Articles Face Judges of Agricultural Display

Neenah—Old quilts each nearly 100 years old are attracting special attention at the fourth annual agricultural exhibit in the community room of the National Manufacturers bank building. The oldest is a silk and cotton crazy quilt owned by Mrs. Whitmore, Neenah, which was originally owned by her mother's mother. The other is a hand woven cotton and wool quilt in bird design and was made of yarn hand dyed. It is owned by Mrs. Hans Hanson and also is an heirloom. The two articles are well preserved.

Among other exhibits of special interest is a handbag made out of the inner tube of an automobile tire. It is lined and beaded in red and has a fringe. It was made by Mrs. Louis Stecker, rural route No. 10, Neenah. A picture of a girl and a dog worked in intricate colored yarn, cross stitch design, is being admired daily by hundreds of visitors. It is owned by Mrs. Herman Itoe, rural route No. 10, Neenah. Several hand painted pictures are being exhibited.

A California orange gourd, which closely resembles an orange is one of the curiosities of the show. The seed was shipped from California to Mrs. Wockner, Chetek, Minn., who raised it. A silver dollar plant, one of the few in Fox River valley, is being exhibited by Mrs. Julius Annet. The exhibits of farm products, needle work, and fruit of all kinds surpass those usually seen at county fairs. The number of exhibits exceed those of previous years.

Nearly 200 exhibits have been entered and each exhibit includes several articles. The entering of exhibits closed Wednesday night and additional room has been provided for displaying them. The prizes offered by merchants are being shown in a separate room. They are valued at several hundred dollars and all of them have been donated. The judges started on their work Thursday morning. Edward F. Meyer is chairman of the exhibit committee and Miss Jessie Denard, head, has charge of entering the exhibits.

NOTED GRID STAR IS SENT TO JAIL

Joseph Schuyler Gets Period Behind Bars for Drinking Too Much

The family of four little Indians in the county jail now has grown to five, the fifth member of the family being a sort of elder brother of the rest. Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke hopes the man will act as father to them and give them some fatherly advice. Although his recent example was being to inspire the youths to anything laudable.

Joseph Schuyler whose name was once cheered by thousands on the football fields is in the county jail rumormongering over the notion that made him drink too much of the forbidden liquor and fall into the hands of Walter Scherck, deputy sheriff. He was arrested for drunkenness at an Onondaga dance Wednesday night. He had been working near Shawano and came down to Onondaga to register on some land allotment. But before he registered he got drunk, he confessed. That was his chief mistake—getting drunk before he registered, Sheriff Zuehlke told him.

Schuyler is a graduate of Carlyle Indian school and started as fullback on their famous football team in 1908. Since his collegiate days he has "knocked about at odd jobs," he says. He was sentenced Thursday morning by Judge A. M. Spencer to 10 days in jail. He has the company of four young Indian boys who are accused of thievery.

These decided to call into life a civil servants' international, with a teachers' sub-section.

The date for the first international congress, at which the organization is to be definitely launched, has been fixed for Oct. 27, and the convention city will be Paris. It is expected that British and Belgian organizations will also be represented. HANGING BRIDGE IN PHILADELPHIA NEARLY COMPLETE

Structure Will Be Largest of Its Kind in World, Engineers Claim

Philadelphia—Construction work on the great Delaware river suspension bridge, according to officials of the commission directing its erection, is keeping pace with the schedule set by the engineers who designed it, making it probable that July 4, 1926, the sequel-centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, will see the new artery of traffic opened between Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The bridge, with a span of 1,750 feet between towers, according to the engineers, will be the largest of its kind in the world. More than a mile and a half in total length, its towers already in place, reach 355 above the surface of the Delaware river.

Draped from the monster cables, each of which will be 29 1/2 inches thick, the floor of the bridge is to be 135 feet above high water, providing passage for the largest craft without altering their top hampers.

The bridge will be 125 feet wide and will accommodate four tracks for trolley and rapid transit lines and a roadway for six lines of vehicles. Two walks for pedestrians will be built above the roadway. The cost of the project is estimated at $30,000,000, divided between Philadelphia and Camden, and the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

At its present stage, the structure presents the appearance of a bridge without a floor. The towers and anchorages are in position, and the two shores linked by temporary cables on which a narrow footpath for workmen has been laid. Both shores of the river were alive with men and resounded to the clatter of machinery, the grime of concrete mixers and the sharp exhaust of hoisting engines. Tons of concrete are being poured daily in the construction of the great anchorages. A wide swath has been cut into the heart of Philadelphia and the heart of Camden to clear the way for the approaches to the bridge. Historic churches and buildings have been moved or demolished to make way for this twentieth century project.

ADEPT FLIERS KEEP LIGHTS FOR PILOTS

"Puddle Jumper" Is Name Applied to Small Planes Used in Service

By Associated Press
Chicago—The U. S. Air Mail "puddle-jumper," so named because it gets in and out of pastures and other small areas to fix the airway lights, finds favor with Tex Marshall, veteran pilot.

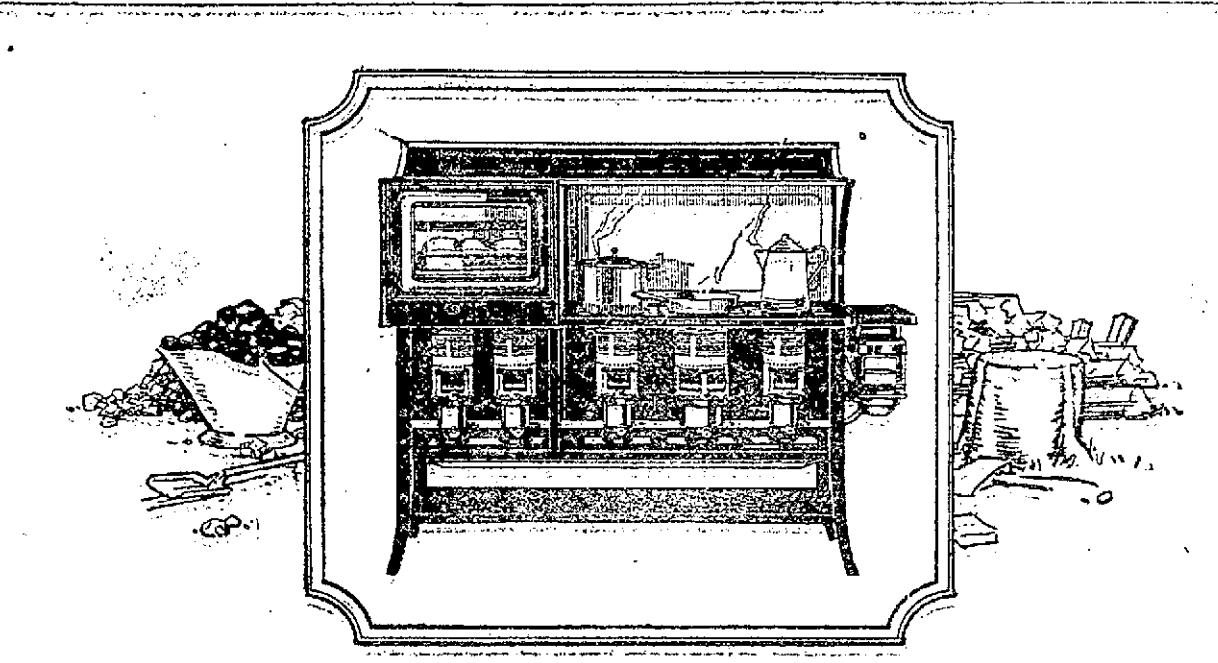

The old reliable D. H. planes with their 400 h. p. motors could not begin to get out of the small places we have to enter," Marshall says. "Puddle-jumper" is rather a complimentary term applied to the Curtiss 130 h. p. maintenance plane which operates from Maywood, Ill., to and from Iowa City, and Cleveland. It can cut weeds with its all-metal propeller, making it possible to alight and take off in weeds that would badly chew up the wooden parts of other propellers.

We like it because of the big fat wheels, the 'supper' we call them, which enable us to land in a soft field. The radiator in the upper wing contains the water and envelopes the gasoline tank. The 33 foot hi-lift wings, 7 feet 4 inches wide and nearly a foot in thickness, enable the ship to land slowly, therefore allowing it to enter and leave very small fields. We have been in grain fields with the stalks standing waist-high.

One of the first official ships to carry a typewriter is this plane. The typewriter holds it on his knees while in flight, observes what needs to be done to some of the lights, as seen from above, types the instructions, wraps up the necessary materials along with the messare, with a long white tail attached, and drops the packet overboard to the waiting caretaker below.

IRON PRODUCTION OF FRANCE FALLING OFF

By Associated Press
Paris—The claim of some economists that France is the "ironmaster of the world" is disputed by recently published figures. These show the production of iron to be 530,000 tons a month and of steel 54,000 tons. These figures are 15 per cent less than the 1913 output.

EQUITY OPPOSES CHILD LABOR LAW PROPOSED BY U. S.

County Union Also Will Work for Lower Shipping Rates on Livestock

Frank Reimer was reelected to the state board at the meeting of Outagamie County union of the American Society of Equity Wednesday afternoon at the courthouse with H. H. Jack of Kenosha presiding. Mr. Reimer will represent the county union in that office for the ensuing year.

H. H. Jack was elected delegate-at-large to represent the entire county and Frank Reimer was elected as the delegate of the county union for the state Equity convention the date and meeting place of which have not been announced. George Schmidt was elected alternate.

After routine business had been completed and reports of the officers read and approved, Mr. Jack spoke against the law now before the legislature providing that the minimum age of working children be changed to 18 years. He said it would be a detriment not only to the farmer but also to all the people of America. If it is passed we will become a country of Looes and Leopolds. He said a resolution committee of which Fred Refka was chairman was appointed to draw up and present to the meeting a resolution on this matter after a fifteen minute recess.

After the recess the resolution was read by Jory Bond, a member of the committee and was unanimously adopted. The resolution stated that Outagamie county union work on record as opposed to the bill. A copy will be sent to the representatives in congress of this state, urging them to do all in their power to prevent the passage of the bill.

The secretary read an article written by Robert Lundson, county agricultural agent, who was unable to be present, concerning shipping rates on livestock from towns in Outagamie to Milwaukee and Chicago. The paper indicated a high rate as compared with other cattle sections of the country. A petition to lower the minimum rates on the shipping of livestock was read. It was decided that the county alone was not strong enough to put the matter over and that statewide interest must be obtained. In order to get this a committee was appointed to draw up resolutions and present them at the state convention. George Schmidt was appointed chairman of this committee.

P. O. WILL HASTEN DELIVERY OF BALLOTS

Special instructions have been received at the Appleton postoffice from John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general, with reference to the handling of absent voters ballots that are sent through the mails. It frequently happens that absent voters forget to affix enough postage to the envelope or omit postage altogether on the supposition that none is required.

Postmasters and postoffice employees have been instructed to communicate with the local precinct election officials with a view of securing sufficient postage in order that the purpose of the voter may not be defeated by nondelivery of the ballot in season to be counted. Postmasters at the place of mailing also are asked to handle the mail with all expedition to avoid delay.

ON THE SCREEN

BIG WRECK SCENE FURNISHES THRILL IN "THE FIGHTER"

The big railroad wreck scene which is a feature of Conway Tearle's Solite Picture, "The Fighter," is said to be one of the most sensational dramatic incidents ever incorporated in a motion picture. The wreck shows the star rushing over the rails at eighty miles an hour in a lone steam engine when suddenly the engine plunges through a burning trestle to the river hundreds of feet below. It is a scene possessing all the dramatic punch and thrill of the old time melodrama, and yet the picture has none of the cheapness peculiar to the average melodramatic play.

"The Fighter" was made from Albert Payson Terhune's popular story of the same name and is said to provide the star with an ideal role. Winifred Cheney directed the picture and Winifred Westover plays the leading feminine role. The cast also included Arthur Houseman, Ernest Lawford, George Stewart, Warren Cook and Helen Lindroth.

"The Fighter" will be seen at The New Bijou theatre Friday and Saturday.

Lloyd Scores Biggest Laugh Hit With Farce

Every Harold Lloyd feature comedy stands entirely on its own merits. Starting with "A Sailor-Made Man," which was his first picture to be as long as four reels, there has not been a single Lloyd film that could be compared with any other. In each has been distinctive and varied in type and idea.

You may have liked "Grandma's Boy" better than "Safety Last," yet you cannot compare them and say that, because you liked "Grandma's Boy" best, it is the better comedy of the two. Each comedy is in its own class, and critics and public approval have placed it at the top of its class.

Now comes "Why Worry" and creates its own exclusive place among the Harold Lloyd Pathcomedies. It is not like any of its predecessors, except insofar as it is one hundred percent funny, having South America as a background and a revolution as the motif.

For chief partners-in-fun in "Why Worry," Harold Lloyd had a giant nearly nine feet tall and a leading lady only five feet tall. These are, respectively, John Aasen and Jobyna Ralston. The giant Aasen is making his screen debut, and pretty little Jobyna is making her first appearance as Harold's leading lady, supplanting Mildred Davis, who took one of those "for-better-or-worse" life jobs with Harold.

"Why Worry" is the feature attraction at the Elite Theatre today, Friday and Saturday. It was produced at the Hal Roach studio with the usual Lloyd staff of experts in direction and scenario writing.

Great Orchestra Is Coming Here

MINNEAPOLIS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

ONE of the outstanding numbers of the 1924-1925 Community Artists series, which will be given at the concert by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra early in May. This great organization has been here before and is regarded as one of the "high spots" of any musical season.

Four concerts of first magnitude are included in this year's course which opens on Nov. 18 with a recital by Renald Werrenath, noted tenor. Season tickets sell from $6 to $4. Single concert tickets will not be sold until after Nov. 12.

Henri Veibreggshen is directing the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, which has a membership of about 85 musicians, this year. The program to be presented here will contain several popular numbers as well as the classical music which the great orchestra usually plays.

The Minneapolis orchestra is one of the greatest musical organizations in the country and travels from one end of the United States to the other to play concerts.

Tire Damage Prevented By Traffic Law

(This is the eleventh of a series of articles dealing with the city's new traffic ordinance.)

People who intentionally or accidentally sprinkle glass, rocks or other sharp substance on the street or highway and thus cause injury to automobile tires may be punished under the city's new traffic laws for the offense.

This is what the law says: "It shall be unlawful for any person to deposit upon any of the streets, alleys or public walks within the city of Appleton, any broken glass, rocks, nails, wire or other things likely to injure any vehicle or the vehicle of another."

It is a scene possessing all the dramatic punch and thrill of the old time melodrama, and yet the picture has none of the cheapness peculiar to the average melodramatic play.

FIRE DRILL EMPTIES SCHOOL IN MINUTE

Don't make haste—make sure! is the slogan of the pupils of Second district schools when they hear the three strokes of the gong ring out for a fire drill. They have been trained to value the slower, surer way of saving than solves from the danger of fire, and have discovered that when all is said and done, they really get out of the school building more quickly when they walk in a div than when they run. And the one absolute rule, which has become part of the code of each pupil is to assist, and not to push.

Lincoln school was emptied of three hundred pupils and teachers in one minute recently in a surprise drill. The pupils and teachers were not a single person in the doorways, except the doorkeepers, though, for all that could be discovered, a real fire might have been in progress, puffing its smoke up from the basement. And this is a real test of whether any pupil is nervous. Ben J. Rohan, principal of the Second district schools, says that the sound of the gong is so familiar to the pupil, and it has been demonstrated to each one so often and so conclusively that he can be far outside the building before there is any chance of the fire reaching the schoolrooms that it is impossible to fluster anyone. All the teachers must also be out of the building at each drill, and everyone marches to the street.

GERMANY NOT ENTIRELY WITHOUT FIGHTING MACHINE

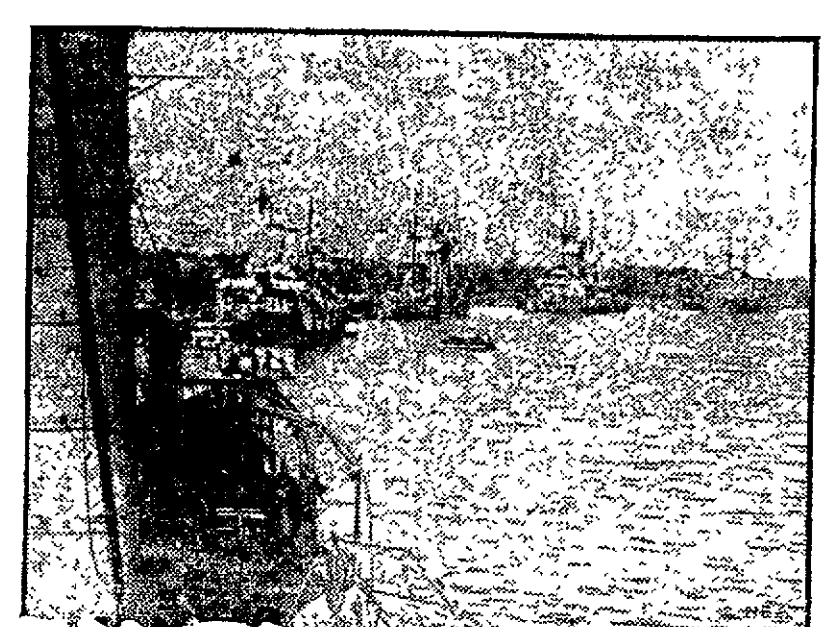

Militarism isn't dead in Germany, by any means. And here's proof of it. It shows sailors on board the battleship Hanover, lying at anchor at Swinemunde, lined up for inspection. Defense Minister Cessler (in civilian attire) and Admiral Behnke are giving them the once-over.

By means of improved salvaging equipment, the German fleet, sunk at Scapa Flow in 1919, is being raised. Here is the first photo taken of the work. It shows the fore-deck of the torpedo boat destroyer S-181 as it appears after five years' immersion. Note the sea gull, the "lone sentinel" of a vanquished fleet.

Frank Bamed, 26, an electrical contractor of London, Ont., is charged with deliberately driving his automobile on a sidewalk at Niagara Falls, Ont., and killing Smylee Muirhead. Muirhead and his wife were out walking with Bamed's estranged wife. Bamed escaped and police have failed to find him.

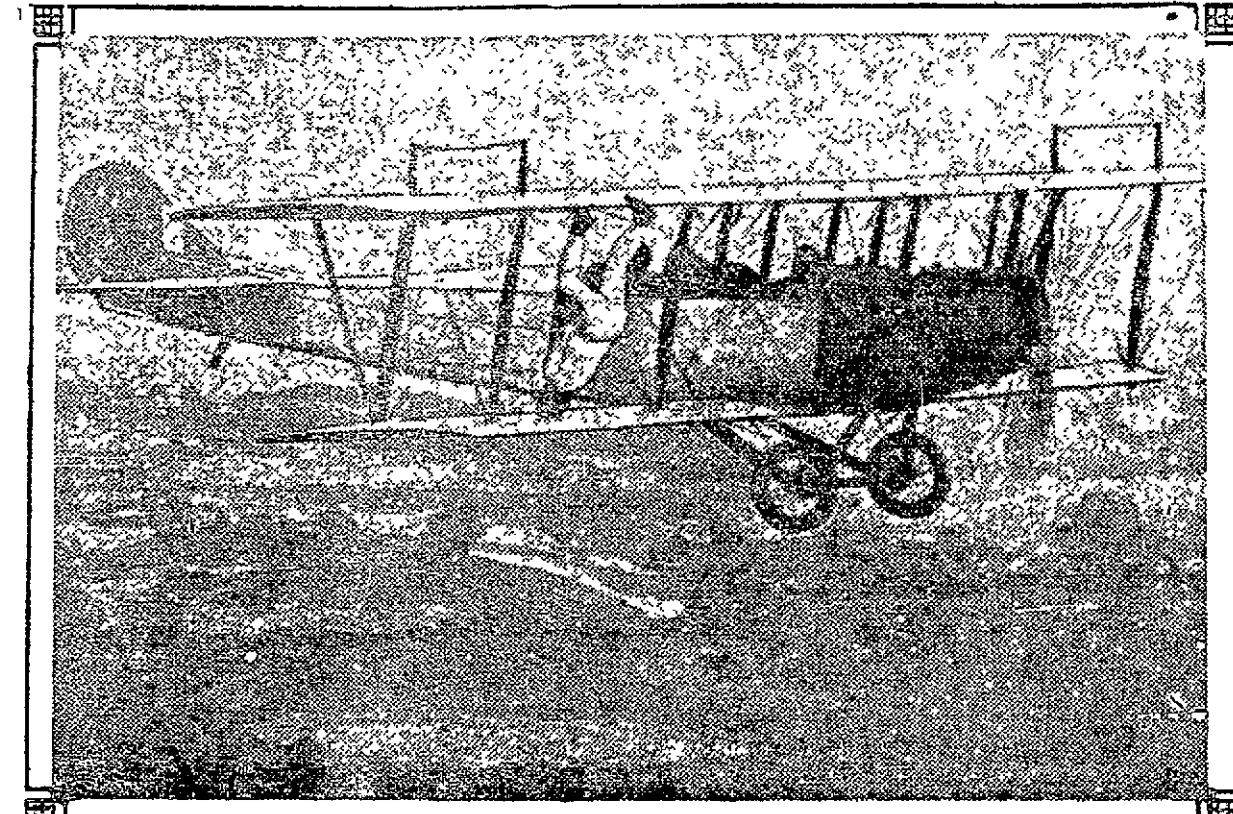

Germany still has a navy. Though she surrendered a good many of her ships to the allies after the armistice, she still has quite a few left. Here are some of her battleships and cruisers at anchor in the bay of Swinemunde.

To be a fashionable Boston girl take one bright yellow raincoat, paint in bright colors whatever picture suits your fancy upon the back and parade your town's most prominent street. Ester Comisky, Wellesley College girl, is demonstrating.

A thousand feet in the air! But watch him out there standing on his head! Look at him scamper about the plane! He laughs at death as he goes about his business entertaining the folk 1,000 feet below! Yet Homer Miller of Canton, O., a stunt flyer, laughed just about once too often. A minute after this picture was taken, while he was preparing to catch a rope dangling from a plane above, one of his lungs was punctured by the wing of his own ship. It happened in Cleveland. He's in a hospital there now. Doctors say he will recover.

No, the elephant is not trying to climb the wall. Nor is he learning to walk a 12-inch plank. When being unloaded from a steamer at a Hoboken (N. J.) pier, Agnes, the elephant, swung up against the warehouse. She tried to stand on the beam, but a tug from the derrick engine lifted her off of it.

BADGER MAY BE GIVEN GAVEL AS HOUSE SPEAKER

Bitter Fight to Select Successor to Gillett Is Certain

BY HARRY B. HUNT

Washington — A fine fight for the speakership in the next congress is assured, whether Democrats or Republicans win.

For a new gavel wielder must be found to preside over the sessions of the sixty-ninth House. Speaker Gillette, after six years in the chair, surrendered the chance at another term in that office to pursue the Massachusetts senatorship now held by David Ignatius Walsh of Fitchburg. Whether he will win is still in doubt, as Walsh is a popular and persuasive campaigner.

But win or lose for the Senate, Gillette will be out of the speaker's chair after March 4 next, and the time of possible and would-be successors already is beginning to form of the right.

The scrap for speakership is certain to be complicated by the maneuvers and manifestoes of independents who will come to the new congress for most part, in the guise of Republicans.

Led by Cooper and Fear and Nelson of Wisconsin, this insurgent wing of the G. O. P. is likely to wield even a more deciding influence in the next congress than in the present one. It was this group which forced a revision of House rules last year, providing a method for getting pig-eared measures out of committee and before the House. Indications are insurgent membership will be increased rather than decreased in the new congress, which will only mean a more effective "balance of power" in the hands of this group.

And the first chance to exercise this power, the first test to reveal the real strength of insurgent elements in the new congress, will come on the vote for election of speaker.

Heading the list of Republicans as pliant for this honor comes Nick Longworth of Ohio, the stocky, bald-headed son-in-law of Roosevelt, a tried and true Republican "regular."

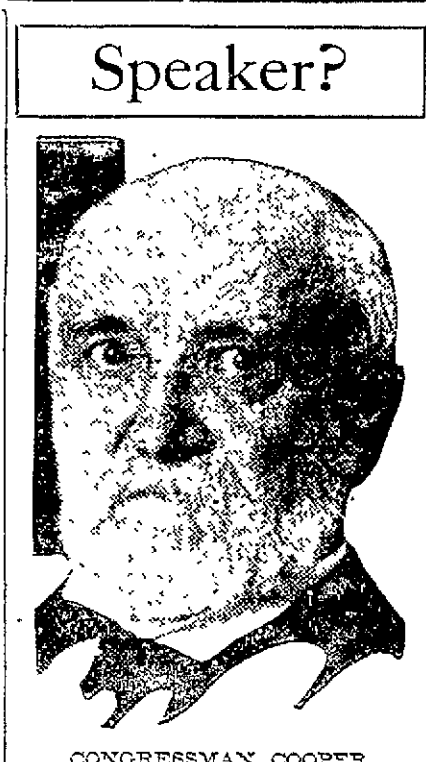

Just how regular a party man Nick is may be judged from the fact that he wouldn't even follow his famous father-in-law into the Bull Moose party in 1912. For the past four years he has been the G. O. P. floor leader and is now ready for promotion to the speakership.

Crowding Longworth for favor as G. O. P. choice for speaker is Martin B. Madden of Chicago.

Both are completing their twelfth year in congress, Madden having served 10 consecutive terms. Longworth 10 terms and consecutive Gillette's withdrawal leaves Henry Allen Cooper of Wisconsin the oldest member of the House in point of service. Cooper is just completing his thirtieth year.

Cooper will be the choice of the insurgent Republicans for speaker. By reason of his seniority in service, his personal popularity, his recognized fairness and squareness his friends believe he will draw the votes of many Republicans outside of the so-called House progressive group.

Should the progressive vote retain its balance of power, as seems probable, with neither Republican regulars or Democrats able to muster a majority for their candidates, a

CONGRESSMAN COOPER

Democratic-Insurgent coalition to put Cooper across as speaker is not impossible.

It was just such a combination that forced the revision of House rules at the last session, against the Longworth-Gillette Republican opposition.

First place in the line of possible Democratic reactions to speaker is accorded Fins J. Garrett of Tennessee.

Like Longworth and Madden, he, too, has served 10 terms and has fought his way to a position of undisputed leadership in Democratic legislative ranks.

MEETING ARTICLE IN TEACHER BOOK

An article written by A. G. Meating, Appleton, county superintendent of schools, occupies the feature page of the November issue of the Normal Instructor and Primary Plans, nationally known teachers' magazine published in New York.

The title of the article is We Must Help Children Learn How to Study, and deals with the subject of directed study which has been one of Mr. Meating's hobbies.

With all the improvement in modern classroom technique, Mr. Meating contends, there has not been in any noticeable manner the power of the child to gain information independent of, or the power to organize facts and to think logically through the component parts of dissertation, narration, argument.

This fact is verified by teachers of freshmen classes in high schools where failure often runs as high as 85 per cent. A large portion of the blame is based upon the fact that most children do not understand the art of studying. Mr. Meating maintains that it is the business of the teacher to create situations that call for the repeated functioning of the child's brain along the lines that will establish thought channels, or promote logical acquisition of facts and principles and that the beginning of the work should not be in the high school, but in the primary grades.

BOARD STARTS FALL SESSION ON NOV. 11

Oppose Practice of Postponing Session Until After Hunting Season

The annual meeting of the county board of supervisors is scheduled to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 11, and unless the meeting is again postponed until after the deer hunting season will take place according to the date fixed by statutes, which is the Tuesday after the second Monday in November.

Postponement of the meeting for two weeks last year caused such a general delay in tax work in various communities of the county that it is doubtful whether the board will follow the custom of the last few years.

The November session is the annual meeting of the year and the most important of the customary three sessions held in the course of the year. Not only is the county highway commission elected in this meeting but the county tax is levied. The board will be in session two weeks.

STUDENTS OF HOME RULE NOT READY TO RECOMMEND ACTION

Special Committee of Common Council Makes Study of Proposed Law

A committee of the Appleton common council appointed to investigate the matter of home rule for Wisconsin cities and villages, which is one of the proposed constitutional amendments to be voted at the election Nov. 4, declined to commit itself upon the issue at a meeting held Tuesday night in the city hall.

The committee, consisting of Aldermen George T. R. Hagedorn, Wenzel Hassman and Herman T. Beske, discussed the advantages and disadvantages of home rule for municipalities and after weighing the matter on both sides of the question was unwilling to recommend a course of action for the voters.

It was admitted that the issue is enshrouded in a fog of misunderstanding on the subject partly to the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, which has sponsored the movement for years but apparently has omitted to educate the people with reference to it. The committee itself desired more information on the matter before being ready to commit itself publicly.

THREE STEPS NECESSARY

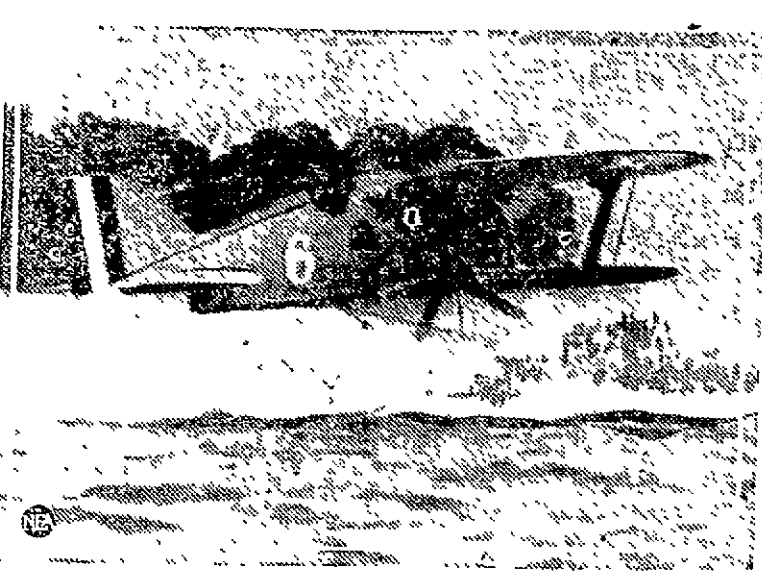

Chairman Richard submitted a mass of material prepared largely by the proponents of home rule for municipalities. From the customs of other states it was discernible that three steps will be necessary in this state for the establishment of home rule. The first step in the procedure is the enabling act, or the constitutional amendment already passed by the legislature and now submitted to the people for ratification in the referendum. If the amendment carries nothing in the constitution can prevent the legislature from granting home rule to the cities and villages. The amendment itself does not establish home rule. For that reason a second step is necessary, namely the enactment of a statute defining the powers granted to municipalities and those reserved for the legislature. The third step is the adoption of home rule charters by the municipalities themselves to organize machinery for the functioning of home rule.

Just how much power the municipalities will receive under home rule and how much power the legislature will reserve for itself is the indefinite element of the issue. It was generally admitted that unlimited power, subject only to the constitution, would be too dangerous an instrument in the hands of city councils and village boards, and that a check on these governing bodies by the state legislature is a protection for citizens in general.

HOLD TAX POWER

The prevailing conception is that the legislature would retain control over cities and villages in matters of taxation, bonding, health, education, wage and labor laws and other legislation of statewide scope. Local governments also would be prevented from enacting legislation affecting

AT THE END OF A RECORD FLIGHT

With a splash this navy plane, piloted by Lieutenant David Rittenhouse, landed on the waters at Port Washington, N. Y., after making a new world's record of 242 1/2 miles an hour—a record made while preparing for the seaplane races to be held at Baltimore.

the compensation and term of office of the incumbent lawmaking officials it was surmised.

The statutory limitations of home rule once determined, it would remain for the local governments to adopt a new city or village charter setting forth the manner of creating city councils or village boards, the method of elections, filling of vacancies, stating the terms of offices, compensation and powers of officials, and other matters such as recall and referendum, administration, budget, tax assessment, special assessments, civil service, contracts, utilities, street improvements, government departments, boards and commissions, etc.

PREVENT HASTE

Alderman Hassmann suggested that under home rule residents might obtain speedier relief in installation of sewers which under the present law requires several months of "red tape" and Alderman Beske said bulldozers might not be hampered by the present process of submitting plans or of structures to the state industrial commission for approval. But discussion of these points revealed that municipalities may even now ask for an amendment to the statutes to provide relief. On the other hand, it was considered that these very restrictions were made for the protection of the citizens who might otherwise suffer through too hasty local legislation.

Another advantage of home rule, as seen by Alderman Hassman, was that local officials have a better insight in to their own local problems than the legislators who are miles removed from the locality affected by state legislation.

This point did not offset the disadvantage of home rule in that it disrupts the uniformity of laws in the opinion of Alderman Richard. While cities are trying to bring about greater uniformity in traffic laws, home rule might set them that much back, it was pointed out.

Other possible effects of home rule, as foreseen by the members of the committee was the power of the municipalities to take over public utilities without interference by the state, the patchwork of homemade charters that would not stand up in the courts, the engaging of a full time city attorney to keep the governing bodies constantly informed on the legality of every charter amendment, ordinance and resolution, the chance for graft on the one hand and domination by demagogues on the other hand, radical changes in city departments, narrow margin rule especially if home rule were entrusted to three men in a commission government.

It was learned that the agitation for home rule for municipalities comes chiefly from the large cities and Alderman Richard maintained that it is socialistic in principle since it tends toward government ownership of many industries.

When the committee adjourned, it decided to report back to the city council without recommending any mode of action and leaving the issue to the discretion of the voters.

Thousands of overfat people have become slender by following the advice of doctors who recommend Marmola Prescription Tablets. These little fat reducers are made from the same formula as the famous Marmola Prescription. If too fat, don't wait—go to your druggist now and for one dollar the same price the world over procure a box of these tablets. If you prefer you may secure them direct by sending price to the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. They reduce steadily and easily. No need for tireless exercise or starvation diet and no unpleasant effects.

Two Fire Calls

Appleton firemen answered two alarms on Tuesday. One call took them out to Jones park where the grass caught fire Tuesday afternoon. The grass was soaked for a half hour. Smoke in the basement of the Dengel-bldg on College-ave was responsible for the other call.

Are They Missing Life? Those who have never seen Florida

The fellow was just half right who said, "What one never had, he never misses." Florida is very much on the public tongue today. Some people want to go there because it's a distinction. But there is something far more intrinsic than distinction in a visit to Florida.

It's a land that revitalizes. Its mystic climate galvanizes the spirit—stern men play—sombre women laugh—and old age becomes a dim memory of the distant past.

Florida is not only a land of youth, of smiling suns and caressing breezes. It's a frame of mind. The golden hours of even a short visit here outshine the dull, drab months of a year in another land. In two weeks down here you can create a reserve of happiness that will keep you in a genial frame of mind for the rest of the year.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

In Florida you can wear roses, pick strawberries, and swim in the surf in December?

Florida has over 80 golf courses, many swept by ocean breezes.

There are endless varieties of salt and fresh water game fish.

Many people who intend to retire in Florida find the climate so agreeable that they get back into business.

During the winter Florida is the site of many championship sporting events including tennis, golf, polo, swimming and diving, horse races, dog races, motor boat races.

It is only 3 1/2 hrs. to Jacksonville, 44 hrs. and 50 min. to Miami, 40 hrs. to Tampa, 42 1/2 hrs. to Sarasota and St. Petersburg from Chicago.

Fares and other details on application.

The Seminole is the dependable all-year train to Florida. Leaves Chicago 9:10 p. m., connections for all Florida points. Thru service to Tampa and Miami during season.

The Florida De Luxe train thru to Miami daily beginning December 1st with thru sleeping cars to Sarasota and St. Petersburg, is the finest and fastest to Florida. Leaves Chicago 12:25 p. m.

Why not plan a trip to Florida? It's near—the railroad fare is not great—living expenses here need be no greater than at home—and there's no law against vacationing in the winter—that's a matter of planning.

We will be pleased to give you full details about a trip to any point in Florida.

Our booklet, "Florida" will give you valuable pointers. Send for it.

BUDAPEST FINDS METAL HOUSES ARE SUCCESSFUL

By Associated Press

Budapest — The successful use of thin sheet metal in the making of toy houses has been developed in this city into the manufacture of dwellings. Fireproof materials, covered with a veneer of metal and made to standard design and size are used to run up four room bungalows which, complete with bath, can be erected in 24 hours. The price for such a dwelling is about $350.

Roof Ignites
Sparks escaped from the chimney of the home of Reinhard Zehbel, 1032 Franklin st. started a fire that burned a large hole through the roof Wednesday afternoon. Firemen extinguished the blaze by means of chemicals.

The expression "Tell it to the marines" arose from the fact that when the marines first went abroad they were naturally rather "green" concerning nautical affairs and would believe almost anything that was told to them.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, 26 Forest st., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery which he called Allenru, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allenru with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.

Voigt's Drug Store, Schlitz Bros. Co. are my appointed agents in your city. If you have out of town I'll gladly send you free particulars.

"The Nervous Wreck"

By E. J. Rath
Copyright 1924 by NEA Service Inc.

Denver was watchful. Sitting across the campfire from the two prisoners, he did not permit their last movement to go unnoticed. And the life was always at his hand. The Wreck hoped that he might become a witness; even an instant's nod would be sufficient. But Denver was apparently a person who could dispense with sleep when he chose, and this was obviously one of the occasions. He was a black-haired, saturnine person, apparently rather stupid, yet shrewd enough to devote himself single-handed to the vigil that had been ordered by his chief.

Sally and the Wreck made an effort to pass time in conversation, but they felt no freedom of speech in the presence of Denver, who listened but offered to take no part. His presence discouraged talk, particularly as the one subject they wished to discuss—escape—was prohibited because of his inevitable eavesdropping. But they boggled along for a while, half-heartedly, because there was nothing else to do until a deep-toned rumbling noise interrupted Sally in the middle of a sentence.

"Thunder," she remarked, casually. "Wouldn't wonder if we caught a storm."

"Uh-uh," said the Wreck, gloomily. "He could imagine nothing more uncomfortable than sitting there in a downpour. The camp did not even boast a tent."

There was more rumbling from back in the hills, and twice there were flashes in the black skies. Denver added a couple of sticks to the fire and huddled back again, still with the rifle between his knees.

"I suppose we'll get wet," remarked Sally in a resigned tone. "Well, there's nothing on me that will get hurt."

"Let it rain," said the Wreck. There was a stirring of leaves on the topmost branches of the trees, followed by an atmosphere sluggishness that became oppressive. The lightning was growing more frequent, and the rain was multiplying itself. Just one more discomfort to be endured, the Wreck reflected; they seemed to have encountered nothing but bad luck since they left the Bar-M.

A fresh roll of thunder, and a second later Sally touched his arm. He glanced toward her and found that her eyes were watching Denver across the fire.

"What?" he asked.

"I didn't say anything," answered Sally.

There was a faint frown on her forehead which he interpreted as an order not to ask questions. Yet he knew there was something she wanted to say to him. She was still looking at Denver, and the Wreck also looked. The study brought him no enlightenment. Denver sat stolidly and watched them without interest, yet with a diligence that was admirable. Presently the Wreck's attention wandered.

More thunder and another touch of his arm. Sally was still staring at the man on the other side of the fire. What did she mean? The Wreck also felt to starting, although he tried to do it in an unobtrusive manner. Apparently it had something to do with Denver.

He had not long to wait. A vivid play of light in the skies, a series of rolling crashes. Denver's head twitched again in involuntary accompaniment, his shoulders stirred and there was a restless movement of his hand. Once more his eyes sought the blackness overhead, only to vince when it was gashed with a white, irregular streak.

Sally and the Wreck exchanged glances, the latter making a faint movement of his head to signify that he understood. Denver was afraid of a thunderstorm. It seemed so absurd that for an instant the Wreck wanted to laugh. Stolid, insensitive to human contact, with a jaw fashioned perfectly for a heavy-weight champion and a physique that matched it, Denver was the ideal bully and bad man. Habitually he wore an expression that told of his apathy to violence. Without fear he would take his chances with a sheriff or anybody else. But he was afraid of thunder and lightning.

The heavens crashed again, flaring in two different directions. Denver responded automatically, with a twitch that affected his whole body. The pair of watchers saw him fight on a quivering lip. He favored them with a look of defiant suspicion—a warning that they would better keep out of his private affairs. Sally turned her eyes upward.

"It's getting nearer every minute," she told the Wreck.

"Yes, we're going to catch it," Sally only hope it rains, too," said Sally. "The dry storms are the worst."

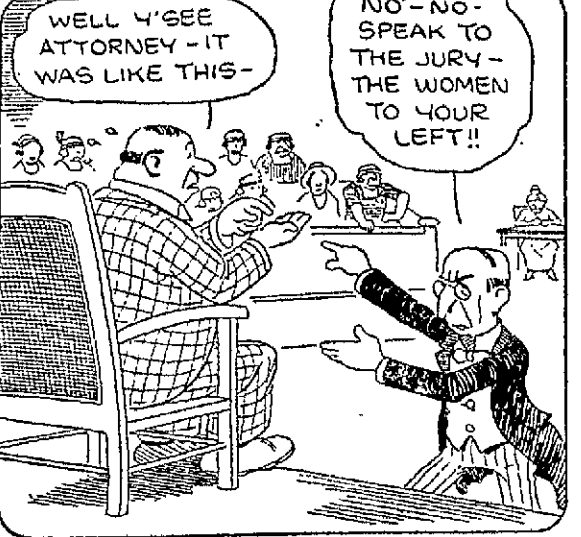

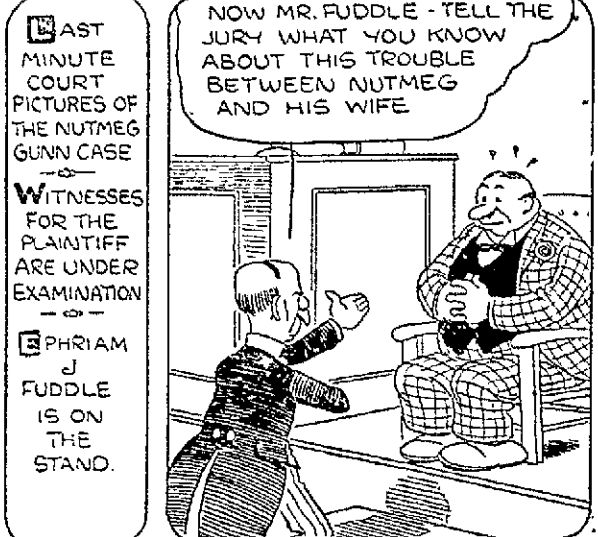

"You bet they are," agreed the Wreck. "I don't know why, but it's always so."

"And it's always worse in the woods, on account of the trees. Why, I remember—"

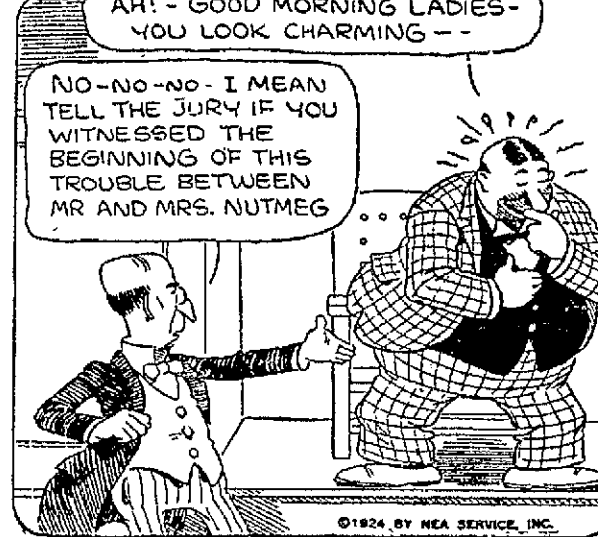

The sound of her voice was swallowed up in a roar. Something had been struck, and not very far distant; they could feel a tremor in the ground. Denver's head seemed to shrink behind his shoulders and for a second his eyes closed tightly. Then they opened with a jerk of terror as he remembered his prisoners.

"That was close," said Sally, in an awed tone and with a meaning

Ancient Tricks And Games To Celebrate Regular Halloween

THE GHOST FIRE
A big dishpan is placed in the center of the floor of a dark room. The pan contains some four or five pounds of salt which has been fairly well saturated with wood alcohol. The party gathers around the pan, chanting any sort of meaningless but impressive nonsense.

Each has been given a chestnut marked in some distinguishing way. A lighted match is thrown on the salt, which breaks into an uncanny green blaze. The chestnuts then are thrown in, and the boy or girl whose chestnut cracks first will be the first blude or brigroom. Of course, the chestnuts must be eaten immediately after popping.

FORTUNE TELLING
Supply each guest at your party with a piece of bright red sealing wax and a cup or shallow bowl of ice water. The wax is melted and dropped through a key or a ring (a wedding ring if possible) into the water. If will instantly harden in branchlike formations, supposed to be "prophecy."

Any ingenious person can interpret the shapes and furnish much amusement for his listeners. Thus, a bell-shaped drop indicates "a wed dirg within a year" anything resembling a torch or lamp may be a forecast of "fame," etc. etc.

GHOSTLY HAND
Stuff an old kid glove with rags or paper. Then wet the outside of the glove with ice water. Invite your guests, one by one, into a darkened room to meet the "prodding spirit" of the evening. The person holding the glove contrives to nudge the guest taking it in his or her hand.

It is even better for the host to put a wet glove on his own hand and grasp the hand of each person with it. The clammy, creepy feeling of being touched with a cold, wet glove will get a rise out of most anybody. It is one of the best of the Halloween spirit tricks.

LOVE PROPHECIES
Any girl can find out at least the first letter of her future husband's name by peeling an apple carefully, so as to keep the paring in one unbroken ribbon, then taking the paring by one end, swinging it three times around the head and letting it drop. The paring surely will fall into the shape of the desired initial.

Two apples stuck on the eye-lids help to see which of two lovers is the more desirable. The seeds are sowed after the lovers, and that which drops from the lid first indicates the sweetheart whose love is not enduring.

BOB FOR APPLES
The hands of the contestants must be tied behind them in bobbing for apples. In the heart of each apple a name may be placed or an initial letter cut in the skin. Each player will draw one apple with his teeth from the tub of water in which they are floating. The person whose name or initials are in the apple drawn out of the water will be the partner of the one who bobbed for it.

The apples should be stemless in some localities the winner of the greatest number of apples is awarded a prize.

ORACLES
The "Delphic Oracle" will provide much amusement for a Halloween party. Some member of the party should be stationed in a dark corner. Let him stand on a box to increase his height should him in a sheet and let him hold a jack-o'-lantern on his head.

The oracle can answer only "yes" or "no" to questions asked her, but the vehemence with which she nods or shakes her head can be very expressive. The oracle should be surrounded by corn stalks and autumn leaves and vines simply arranged. Pumpkins and vegetables of all sorts can be used to hold candles.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS
IRON LENGTHWISE
Always iron tucks lengthwise until dry pulling them straight before using the iron.

TO CLEAN FURNITURE
To clean carved furniture try this: Dip a good sized round blistle pint in kerosene and hang in the open air until it stoms perfectly dry. Then use it for dusting.

KEEP MEAT SCRAPS
Never throw away any bones or meat scraps left from a roast. Put in cold water and cook for several hours and you have a good foundation for vegetable soup.

FOR PATCHING
A good way to patch knitted underwear is to cut the patch to fit, then stitch twice about the edges, then buttonhole the patch to the garment, cutting out the worn parts beneath.

MISS ADELAIDE FOGG WEARING QUEEN VICTORIA'S NIGHTGOWN AND WRAPPER.

Omaha.—Victoria may have been a queen, but flappers of today can put it over her when it comes to negligee. Face, ribbon, a wisp of chiffon and some crepe de chine constitute the fairest undies of the modern young miss.

Nothing like this for the modest Queen Victoria. Here's Miss Adelaide Fogg, 4 feet

11 inches, just exactly the same height as Queen Victoria, but not quite so wide, posed in a nightgown of fine linen, handmaide and worn by the queen.

The wrapper she has donned in the other picture, was one which modest Queen Victoria used to slip on over her sleeping garment when she went from her bedroom to dressing room or bath. It is a voluminous white garment made of white dimity and trimmed, too, in rows of the fine handmaide lace.

Mrs. Fied Dale, Omaha, Nebraska, owns these gowns, given her by Mrs. Harry Williams, Rolla, N. D., formerly Mary Downing, one of the four personal attendants of Queen Victoria. Embroidered on each is the royal crest, underneath which are the initials, "V R" for Victoria Regina.

HUSBAND SAID WHY NOT TRY IT
Wife Said She Would. Result, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

East Hardwick, Vermont.—"Last winter I was not able to do any work at all. I had backache, headache, sideache, and was sick all the time for six months. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers, and my husband said to me, 'Why don't you try it?' So I said I would, and he went and got me a dozen bottles. It has done me more good than I can ever tell, and my friends say, 'What have you done to yourself? You look so well.' I tell them it is the Vegetable Compound that makes me so well and strong. There is no use to suffer with backache and pains. I will tell every one what it has done for me."—Mrs. FRED. PRIMO, Route No. 2, E. Hardwick, Vermont.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE APPLE-TREE FAIRY
"Yes," said Daddy Gander to the Twins as they rode along through the sky on his magic dust pan, "the tin rooster was right. There isn't any doubt that the Maiden All-Forlorn and the Tattered-Man have gone to house keeping in the House-That-Jack-Built."

"Oh, look," cried Nancy. "There is someone beckoning to us from that apple tree. Let's stop and see who it is."

So Daddy Gander said, "Whoa!" to his dustpan and it stopped in the tip-topmost branch of the apple tree. "Why, hello," said Nick. "It's the apple tree fairy who runs the elevator up to the sky."

"I'm glad you haven't forgotten me," said the apple tree fairy. "I thought I heard someone talking about the House-That-Jack-Built. Was it you?"

"It was me," said Daddy Gander. "Do you know anything about it?"

"Do I?" Well, I should say so," he marked the apple tree fairy. "I used to live in an apple tree on Pippin Hill where Jack and Jill and Mrs. John live. Indeed I was there when Jack built his house. I know all about it. It's not the cutest porch and—"

"Oh, I mean do you know where it's gone?" asked Daddy Gander. "It's lost."

"Ants wings and snails horns!" cried the little fairy in surprise. "You don't say so?"

"Oh, yes," said Nancy. "It's gone and we're hunting for it. The tin rooster on the barn and Higgledy Piggledy the black hen, said that they thought the Maiden All-Forlorn and the Tattered-Man had gone to housekeeping in it."

"I don't believe it," said the apple tree fairy. "They wouldn't do such a thing. Wait a minute! I've an idea. Was there a windstorm somewhere when the house disappeared?"

"Not that I know of," said Daddy Gander. "But then it's pretty hard to tell sometimes. We never can be sure in Mother Goose Land whether it's a wind storm on Poppleton Bun the miller man, snoring. Why?"

"I was just thinking," said the apple tree fairy "That up on the seventeenth floor of the sky there is a place called 'The Department of Lost Things.' It's for the wind storm things."

"Whatever are you talking about?" cried Nick. "What wind storm things?"

"Oh, pigs, and baby carts, and hay-stacks, and churns, and automobiles, and houses and things like that, that blow away in tornadoes. A tornado is a wind storm," said the apple tree fairy. "They have to blow some where don't they? So they blow up to the seventeenth floor of the sky and we fairies sort them out. It's quite a village."

"But how could Jack's house be blown up there when nothing else was?" asked Nancy.

"Oh, easily," said the fairy. "A tornado is just a wind cloud that looks like a kite with a tail. The tail comes along and—'Whisk!' It can blow you right off the map and leave the person you were talking to without so much as pushing an eyelash out of place."

"Well, then," said Daddy Gander. "Just leave your magic dust pan here," said the apple tree fairy. "I'll run you up in my elevator as quick as Jack Robinson could wink his eye."

The Coal Bin Knows!

THEY can't fool the coal bin when it comes to fuel economy in home heating because I know just how much coal they shovel out of me every season. During the last two years, since I have been feeding a celebrated Thatcher Tubular Warm Air Furnace, a ton of coal goes a whole lot further than it ever did before. Take it from me, the Thatcher Tubular is mighty easy on the coal bin.

The Combustion Chamber of the Thatcher "Tubular" allows ample space for combustion of hot gases. It prevents the fresh air from becoming "burnt" or scorched. Write for illustrated booklet, "Helpful Hints on Heating."

LA WRENCE POINTS FOR CARROLL GAME SATURDAY

Cooke, Kiessling And Olfson Back In Line For Important Battle

Captain Jake Stoll Turns Out for Daily Practice but May Be Kept Out of Game to Let His Knee Mend

Lawrence will go into the Carroll game here Saturday with its original lineup with the possible exception of Captain Jake Stoll whose knee still is a bit stiff as a result of an injury carried off from the Iowa contest two weeks ago. As Carroll is conceded to be by far the most dangerous team the Blues will meet this season, the return of Kiessling, Cooke and Olfson takes on added importance.

Kiessling was unable to play his usual position at tackle in the Ripon fracas because of an injured ankle and Cooke and Olfson were barred by the nine semester rule which applies in the Little Five but not in the Little Eight of which Carroll is a member. The lanky end and also the stocky center will play their last game on the Lawrence squad Saturday.

Stoll has been out for practice every evening this week but unless it becomes absolutely necessary Coach Catlin will not send him in but will keep him on the bench to allow his knee to mend. The veteran end had the same trouble with his other knee several years ago and although it looked doubtful for a time whether he ever would be able to play again he came out of it in good shape. With the season more than half finished the Blue chief is eager to get into as many games as possible before he ends his career on the grid but rather than lose him entirely, Catlin plans to keep him on the bench.

COOKIE BACK AT END
Cooke will be back at right end and the lanky line man is a star punter and one of the best men on the team at the receiving end of a pass. Hitherto passing has played a minor role in Lawrence tactics but in the Carroll game the Blues will need every ground game on the books and they have been developing an aerial attack which probably will be unlimbered frequently Saturday.

Boettcher who played left end in the Ripon game may be in the back field Saturday with Zinsman at quarter. Kotat at right half and Pete Briese at full. They have been working out in these positions in the mud but Catlin switches them about frequently and may make last minute changes if he deems it advisable.

Dunham's educated toe is likely to get plenty of chances for action against Carroll and the giant tackle daily puts in half an hour before the regular drill begins at place kicking. Dunham has been known to shoot the pigskin across the bar three out of five times from beyond the 50 yard line in practice and probably will get a chance to demonstrate his ability in Saturday's tilt.

Stark, who started at left tackle in the Ripon game will be there again Saturday, with Packard and Council as guards.

It is expected the Lawrence field will be crowded to capacity when Carroll comes here and preparations are in progress to receive and seat a record crowd. Grand stand seats have been numbered while the bleachers used for basketball games in Astoria, Ore. are being set up on either side of the grandstand and those usually east of the stands are being transferred to the south side of the field.

FORMER BADGER COACH SUCCEEDS HAUGHTON

Madison — Appointment of Dr. Paul Withington as head football coach at Columbia for the remainder of this year to succeed the late Percy Haughton who died Monday recalls to Badger gridiron followers the fact that Withington was a football coach at Wisconsin for one year, in 1917.

Withington came to Wisconsin from the east where he had attended Harvard. He succeeded Coach Bill Waneau. The team that year was only partially successful.

Outcome Of Gotham Card Looks Phony

New York—Ugly rumors connecting smart gamblers with the recent knockout of Mike Ballerino by Kid Sullivan, junior lightweight champion, refuse to down.

This is due to the inexplicable and illogical manner in which the odds on the outcome of the bout were juggled around.

Two days before the fight Ballerino was the favorite to win on points and many wagers at adequate odds were made that Ballerino would score a knockout.

On the day of the fight the betting changed to even money. Two hours before the men climbed into the ring Sullivan was installed as a heavy favorite. Not only that but bets were freely offered that Sullivan would win by a knockout. In many cases Sullivan backers offered odds their man would win by a knockout.

To cap the climax one of the biggest gamblers in the east began to flood the arena with bets that Ballerino would not come up for the sixth round.

And that is exactly what happened. Sullivan never a heavy hitter dropped Ballerino in the fifth round for the full count.

Fight fans are demanding an investigation.

Holds Record

WALTER KOPPISCH

Walter Koppisch captain and star of Perer Haughton's Columbia team, is in the midst of a world's record.

Koppisch enjoys the unique distinction of captaining the Columbia team for the third successive year. He is also playing his fourth year of college football.

When the game was revived at Columbia, Koppisch, a freshman, was nominated to play. Because of his fine work he was elected captain in his sophomore year.

Koppisch is versatile. He can hit the line or run an end. Very fast, he is a brilliant receiver or forward passer. He can also throw them and does most of his team's punting.

FOUR VALLEY GRID SQUADS ARE TIED FOR SECOND PLACE

Green Bay—Four high school teams in the Fox River valley conference now are tied for second place in the league as a result of the fastening of the averages of West Green Bay and Sheboygan in football play last Saturday.

The league, the West Green Bay, Appleton, Fond du Lac and Sheboygan East Green Bay, which did not play a conference game last week, remains in first position with a percentage of 1.000 based on one game won and none lost.

Manitowoc tightened its hold on the cellar position by suffering a defeat at the hands of Sheboygan 28 to 0 and accumulating a total of three games lost for the season. Oshkosh, playing its first conference game, lost to West Green Bay, 28 to 0. Marquette, Appleton and Fond du Lac did not play in conference games.

The following games will be played Nov. 1: Manitowoc at West Green Bay, East Green Bay at Sheboygan, and Fond du Lac at Oshkosh.

OCONOMOWOC WILL INVADE KAUKAUNA

Oconomowoc is the next opponent scheduled to play the Legionnaires at Kaukauna Sunday afternoon and the game is expected to be a hard one although it is looked upon as preparation for the big game of the year at Manitowoc a week later. The Oconomowoc griders are a semi-pro organization with a reputation for hard play. They will arrive at the Electric City Saturday afternoon in order to have plenty of time to rest up before the fray. The game is scheduled to start at 2:15 P. M. on the former State league baseball grounds.

THREE-CUSHION DEFI ACCEPTED THURSDAY

Gene Carr and Harold Pindle recently issued a standing offer of prize for any two American players able to make 80 shots in their 120 Bliss and Phillips local cue artists, have decided to take a fling at the single game and the two teams will play off the first block Thursday night at the Carr and Hansen parlor. Carr and Pindle must make 60 points to 40 for their rivals.

HAWKEYE LINEMEN OUTWEIGH ILLINI 15 POUNDS TO MAN

Zupke's Warriors Have Won Four Games from Iowa Out of Six Played

By Associated Press

Chicago—Illinois' Western conference leader, encounters a team whose line is fifteen pounds heavier to a man in its meeting with Iowa Saturday in the premier Big Ten contest of the week.

The Illini forwards averaging 185 pounds are matched with a combination averaging 200, with Griffin, Hawkeye center the heaviest at 228. The heaviest of the Illini is Dick Hall, 210-pound tackle.

The teams that fought a sensational battle at Iowa City last year when Illinois won 9 to 6 are virtually unchanged. This year the Iowans lost only Fullbeck Muler Kitz a star tackle and two second stringers while the Illini dropped McMullen, mighty guard, Green center and recently Crawford ineligible.

Since assuming command at Illinois in 1913, Coach Rob Zupke has sent his grid warriors against the Hawkeyes on six occasions, scoring four victories and encountering two defeats.

Each squads finish heavy scrum made Thursday.

Elsewhere in the conference stiff practice is finished. Michigan retains Thursday for Minneapolis where the final preparation of Minnesota is being devoted to punting. Some shifts in the gopher line are contemplated while the Wolverines will assemble in virtually the same order as against Wisconsin last week.

Indiana completes its grooming Thursday for Northwestern at Evansville for which it entrains Thursday night.

New plays calling for intricate shifts and double passes form Chicago's drills for Purdue this week and for Illinois here Nov. 8.

Coach Wilce at Ohio State is concerned with his team's attack. While Saturday's game with the Hoosiers is regarded as a rest for the Buckeyes future clashes with Indiana, Michigan and Illinois are being kept in mind.

Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame is developing a powerful running attack combined with an overhead offense and line plunging as a reception to Georgia Tech enroute to South Bend.

While the absence of Walsh and Stuhldreher is felt, a number of substitutes are available and these are receiving Rockne's attention.

KAUKAUNA EXPECTS TO HOLD ORANGE TO MEAGER SCORE

Appleton Squad Looks for Hard Games Despite Modest Claims of Opponents

Although reports from Kaukauna are that the Electric City high school griders are going into their game with Appleton Friday hoping for nothing more than to keep Orange eleven down to two or three touchdowns, Coach Jule Kevin has not let up in his drill this week, but rather has intensified the workouts. Kaukauna is the heaviest team in years this season and under the tutelage of Bill Smith has developed into a formidable and smooth working machine. The Electric City schoolers may be accounted upon to fight to the finish in any spot event with Appleton as their opponent, and as they have a number of grid deities to make up they plan to do it in great shape Friday.

Straight football seems to be their chief ground game, for in defeating New London, 33 to 0, Saturday they marched up the field through the New London defense for gain after gain, and made use of very few passes which also was true of previous games this year.

Merchants and businessmen of Kaukauna have declared a half holiday Friday because of the game. The high school squad has the complete support of the entire town, and prospects are the field will hardly be large enough to accommodate the crowds. Numbers of Appleton students and fans plan to make the trip with the Orange youngsters, and the junior class at Appleton high school which is attending to ticket sales is having little trouble in dispensing the paste boards.

Kaplan Or Kramer May Be Dundee's Successor

Two Jewish Boys Now Are Claiming Title Recently Outgrown by Jumping Johnny Who Relinquished It

New York—For the first time since 1904, when Young Corbett and Terry McGovern moved up simultaneously to the lightweight division the featherweights are without a digital dictator.

A Jewish boy, one Abraham Attell, claimed the vacated title then, was matched with Harry Forbes, won by a knockout in five rounds, and was recognized as the champion.

Two Jewish boys are now claiming the title recently outgrown by Johnny Dundee, portly spaghetti addict.

One is Louis Kid Kaplan of Mel den, Conn. emigrant from Russia. The other is Danny Kramer of Phila-

"Lay Lawrence Low", Is Slogan

Waukesha — "Lay Lawrence Low" is the keynote of the purpose underlying the training this week by Coach Norris Armstrong of the Carroll College football team, which meets Lawrence at Appleton next Saturday. Tuesday was devoted to scrimmaging with the second team, which used Lawrence players entirely. The first real team put up a correct defense for all the Lawrence formations and was especially good in breaking up the Lawrence forward passes, the second team not having been able to get away with a single pass. Carroll players know that they will be up against heavier and more experienced opponents than they have encountered thus far this year, but are determined to win against these odds. The Carroll backfield has been altered slightly with Gibby Sterr at half back instead of quarter, as heretofore.

Philadelphia hard-boiled product of the Quaker town street corners.

Mr. Rickard has been crying eloquently in his consomme because of a death of logical opponents. Let him match Kramer with Kaplan and he will have the next featherweight champion.

KRAMER HARDER HITTER
Wise eggs in Tin Eel alley tell me Kramer will beat Kaplan. Kramer is a knockout out and a southpaw. His left, literally explodes in your face. I saw him bang Kid Wolfe on the whiskey's several years ago. Wolfe dropped as if he had been shot, and did not move for 10 minutes.

A week later Wolfe was rammed by an automobile and knocked out conscious. When he came to he wanted to know what Kramer had hit him with. Wolfe himself will tell you this no joke.

Kaplan is a better allround work man than Kramer. He is a stiff puncher, not a knockout out, and a better defensive fighter. It is not hard to hit Kramer. George Chaney, Baltimore lightweight, knocked him quivering not so long ago.

None of the boys are dropping Kaplan for the count and he has mingled with lightweights too. Kip has showed up Pat Moran worse than Benny Leonard did and he honored enough punches off Johnny Shugrue's noble nan to earn the decision.

HERE'S ONE SURE BET
You are reasonably safe in making a wager that the name of the next featherweight champion will begin with "K."

Killbane was the bet "K" to hold the title and Kill's was in some respects a great little champion. This writer never saw for one thing anybody with a better one-two punch.

The featherweight division has been represented at the top by more different nationalities than any other fighting group.

George Dixon probably greatest of all featherweights was a negro. Little Chocolate once called him, and he held the title on three different occasions.

Billy Plimmer and Ben Jordan were both English born. Kilbane was emphatically Irish. Well, Jewish, Chinese, French and Dundee Italian.

Providence, R. I.—Mike McTigue world's light heavyweight champion scored a technical knockout over Frankie Carpenter of Treport, L. I. in six rounds.

Selects Kelly Most Valuable Utility Player

Cincinnati—Manager Jack Hendricks of the Reds considering George Kelly of the New York Giants the most valuable utility player in the National league, if not both major leagues.

The fine showing of Kelly in the world series made the fact that he struck out twice in a pinch in the final game, bears out Hendricks' opinion.

Kelly is a great first baseman—a fine target for the infielders. He has a wonderful arm and is a dangerous hitter.

Filling in at second base in the series when Irish was moved over to third, Kelly saved the first game by a remarkable play. Fostin in the outfield he played equally well.

There are few players in the majors who can perform in the infield or outfield as rapidly as Kelly does.

FOND DU LAC GETS EARLY START FOR STATE PIN JOUSTS

Meeting Planned for Friday to Discuss First Event of Kind
Held in City

Fond du Lac — To make arrangements for the first state "bowling tournament ever to be held in Fond du Lac, there will be a meeting of all directly interested in the project,
at 7:30 Friday evening in the Association of Commerce rooms.

The tournament will commence here in the middle of January and will continue for a period of six weeks. It is the plan of the men interested to organize 600 local booster teams and to that end the factories, the lodges and clubs, and the retail merchants stores will be canvassed and teams organized. It is hoped that close to 100 teams can be organized at the Rheinglen Leather Co.

More than 600 teams from the various towns and cities in the state will take part in the tournament during the six weeks. This will mean the arrival to close to 150 people in Fond du Lac daily as members of competing teams often bring their wives, friends and families.

Last year the tournament was held at Janesville. Over 600 outside teams were competitors in the tournament and there were 618 local teams also taking part.

The tournament in preceding years has been held at the following places,
Racine, Beaver Dam, Madison (twice), Sheboygan, Kenosha, Neenah, Men-asha, Green Bay (twice), Milwaukee and Janesville. There are certain requirements which must be met before the city can entertain the state tournament and one of them is that the city must have a bowling alley with ten alleys. This is one of the reasons Fond du Lac has not had the state tournament here before.

A. A. Jones is president and Leo Wolber is secretary of the local committee for arrangements. They will begin their work on organizing the local teams in the near future.

Bucky Harris Plans To Play On Cage Squad

Milwaukee — BUCKY Harris, who jumped into the limelight by leading the Washington Senators to their first pennant in history, will try his hand at basketball this winter. Bucky will play with the Pitcon, Mass., quintet, when it opens the season against the Original Celtics Nov. 2 in New York city. Harris will be stationed at one of the forward berths, probably teamed with his younger brother, Merle.

It is not uncommon for major league players to take up the court game during the winter months. Johnny Evers, when a member on the Chicago Cubs, was one of the leading "pro" basket tossers of his time. Each year a team called "Holly's Majors," made up of big league players, tours the country. It is a good means of getting into shape for the spring training season and enabled many of the hefty to keep their weight down.

RED SHIPS CRUISE GULF OF FINLAND

By Associated Press
Helsingfors, Finland—Surprise has been expressed in the smaller states about the Baltic Sea at the number of ships participating in the cruise of the Russian Soviet fleet in the Gulf of Finland, which began a few days ago. Two dreadnaughts, six submarines, five light cruisers, ten destroyers, ten torpedo boats of French type and a number of repair ships have been sighted, a greater number of vessels than it was thought possible could be commissioned. All the ships appeared to be in good state of repair.

The fleet was recently sighted close to the Ethiopian coast, but so far none of the vessels have appeared in Finnish waters. As the Soviet authorities are said to be anxious to make a demonstration of the efficiency of their reorganized navy, it is expected that the cruise will be extended to Danish and German waters.

MENTORS YOUNGSTERS SHOW ELECTRICAL SKILL

A great advance has been made in the electrical department of the Appleton vocational school this year.
In the last two years classes in this work were held one day a week only but now there is a full-time instructor and night classes are held on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights and day classes Tuesday and Friday afternoons. Much new equipment has been added in the last two years, a few benches and tools being the only articles in the shop before that time. The room has been enlarged considerably since then and next year much more space will be needed if the success of the course continues.

The night class is working on armatures, windings and motor repairing at present. The students are allowed to work on whatever they choose in the electrical line. Many bring their own work and are allowed to spend their entire time on that.

The day classes specialize on the electrical work about the school.
They do the wiring, extension work and general repair work on the school lighting system without outside assistance.

A picked class in electrical work
meets on Wednesday afternoons.
These students do anything in the way of general electrical shop practice. They are allowed to do the things they are interested in as much as possible to develop their electrical skills. One boy is attempting to construct a transformer entirely through his own efforts. The first thing he has ever tried and is succeeding very well. Others are repairing burnt out motors, which were given to the school on their own responsibility and through their interest in that kind of work. A large generator was built and wired entirely by the boys. An electric board, containing many are electrical fixtures and findings all the power circuits of the school, is another product of the students.

Clyde Cavert is in charge of the entire electrical department.

GROUNDHOG GETS AWAY JUST AS HE IS NEEDED BADLY

Here is all news for the politicians. Bad weather is expected for election day. And the groundhog is to be blamed. For he has stayed in his hole in which he was cooped up for the last few months, folk could regulate his movements at will. But now he is gone and has left his captors gloomy. The groundhog, a full grown woodchuck, was captured several months ago by children of Peter Holmstrom, Route
4. But a few days ago the pet weather prophet broke loose and dragged half of the chain with it.
It is predicted that the weather will be unsettled until Feb. 2,
when the animal makes his reappearance.

MAIL MOVES QUICKLY OVER SIBERIAN ROUTE

By Associated Press
Tokyo—After a suspension of seven years, dates from the Bolshevik revolution in 1917, rapid mail service between Japan and Europe by way of Siberia has been resumed with the dispatch of mails from Tsuruga to Vladivostok on their way to Europe.
The reopened Siberian route will convey mails from Tokyo to London in 21 days, to Paris in 19 days and Berlin in 18 days.

At the same time normal mail service between Japan and Vladivostok, suspended since early this spring

when the Russian authorities refused to receive mail from Japan, has been resumed.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse
the liver in a soothing, healing way.
When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue,
poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling,
no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets
the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 35c and 50c.

CLOTHES THAT MAKE
ALL MEN FEEL YOUNG

A new type of car has stirred the automobile world
as has nothing since the abandonment of the "buggy" style of body building.

It is the Studebaker Duplex, so called to indicate that it is an open car one moment, and 30 seconds later it is an enclosed car.

Like all great advances in the industrial arts, it is "so simple in operation, it is a wonder it wasn't thought of before" — — —

Particularly since its need has been growing, year
by year, ever since automobiles were made.

Many people all of the time, and most people part of the time, want an open car—to bring to their riding the fresh crispness of the country air, and a free and untrammelled association with the great outdoors.

Yet for these same people, the snug comfort of the closed car, shutting out the storm and the wind and the cold, has been at times a necessity.

Two cars in one

The Studebaker Duplex is both cars in one. Just pull down the roller enclosures concealed in the roof of the car. In 30 seconds the open car has been made an enclosed car.

No hurried efforts to put up curtains; no hunting for the right one while the storm beats in; no mixing them up in the dark; no exposure through holes torn in them while trying to obtain, for the emergency,
the protection given by a closed car — — —

Just pull down the roller enclosures giving instant enclosed car effect.

The body is built substantially—sides, corners and roof frame are of steel. The roof has curved steel sides and back; hardwood front. Steel, U-shaped cross beams, six of them, support the waterproofed, duplex fabric top and its linings. Here is permanent beauty, no sagging tops.

But Studebaker, on which the whole vehicle-using world has come to depend for reliability, would not rest on only one real contribution to the value given the public.

It must give all that engineering ability could devise.

Striking new features

So there are offered three distinct models of cars, to meet each of the three fields of demand—the Standard Six, with 113-inch wheelbase and 50 horsepower motor; the Special Six, with 120-inch wheelbase and 65 horsepower motor; the Big Six, most magnificent and luxurious of its products, with 127-inch wheelbase and 75 horsepower motor.

Duplex bodies are available on each line. In addition, closed models have workmanship and materials and beauty of line so far above the price class of the car, they must be seen to be appreciated.

Of scarcely less importance than the Duplex feature are other improvements such as, automatic ignition system, lighting control on the steering wheel, new location of emergency brake, improved one-piece windshield and many others.

The body lines, steering mechanism, and even the fenders of the new Studebaker were designed especially for genuine balloon tires. Thus the body lines harmonize with grace and beauty hitherto unattained, even by Studebaker.

Come in and see these new cars.

WOMAN SENT TO JAIL FOR 30 DAYS FOR BOOTLEGGING
Scherck Feigns Drunk and Catches Two Booze Peddlers in His Net
The first woman bootlegger of this county to go to jail was sentenced by Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Thursday morning. She is Mrs. Neal (Bertha) Joseph, now serving 30 days in the county jail, while her husband is removed from her by the space of about two miles. He is breaking stones at the county workhouse and will be so occupied for the next 90 days.
The couple was arrested by Walter Scherck, deputy sheriff, at an Onondaga dance hall Wednesday night when they were mingling among the people and peddling their liquor.
It was partly due to their greed and dishonest trust in an apparent drunken man that led to their arrest. During their stay at the dance, a man bought a pint of liquor from the woman for $1. A short time later another man "stumbled" in and in a "thick" voice asked, "How's chances for a pint?"
"Shall we give it to him?" she asked of her mate.
"Sure," whispered he, "but charge him $1.50."
The couple was amazed to find that the "drunken spree" was a good, and that the stranger was Scherck, the deputy sheriff. Both pleaded guilty in municipal court and were sentenced forthwith. The husband had served time in the Brown County jail for a similar offense. At the same dance Scherck arrested a drunken Indian who is now serving 10 days in the county jail.

Sousa Versatile Composer
A march, a suite, a humoresque, a foxtrot and a jazz fantasia—perhaps the first fantasy of syncopation ever written, will be Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa's own contributions to the programs for his thirty-second annual tour at the head of the band which bears his name. The March King, who will celebrate his seventeenth birthday during the tour, apparently becomes more versatile with every passing year, and the Sousa program for the short season of 1924 will contain more that is novel and unusual than ever before.
The seat sale for the concert by Sousa's band in Lawrence Memorial chapel, opens Friday morning at the selling drug store. Tickets for the matinee on the afternoon of Nov. 1 range from 50 cents to $1.50 and the evening seat prices are from $1 to $2. Requests for tickets are coming from all the surrounding towns and cities, according to Carl J. Waterman, dean of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, who has charge of local arrangements for the concert.
It is doubtful if there could be a Sousa tour without a new Sousa march, and the announcement each season of the annual march is of such interest throughout America that it is usually carried on the wires by the news associations. This year the march is "Ancient and Honorable Artillery March," and it is dedicated to the famous Boston military company, established in America in 1638, and active to England a century earlier.
Here for the first time, Sousa will incorporate into a march a strain not of his own creation, and "All Day Long" the old, old song of the Army and Honorable Artillerymen will sing through the new march tune.
"Looking Upward" is the new Sousa suite, and its three movements are entitled "By the Light of the Polar Star," "Under the Southern Cross" and "Mars and Venus." The Inspira-
